

Who is eligible for parental leave in Austria?

Parental leave is granted to parents, usually after maternity and paternity leave, allowing mothers and fathers to take care of their young children without losing their jobs. Such a policy exists in all EU Member States and in Austria it is called Elternkarenz. The policy design and eligibility rules vary across the EU and not all women and men in the EU are eligible for parental leave.

Parental leave in Austria is:

Paid

24 months

Leave is transferable between parents

7 % of women and 11 % of men in employment are not eligible for parental leave

This factsheet is based on an eligibility study of how many women and men (aged 20-49) would be eligible for parental leave if they had a child in 2017 and the reasons behind their non-eligibility. (1)

Who is eligible for parental leave in Austria?

✓ Employees

× Self-employed

✓ Same-sex parents

✓ Non-citizens (2)
(except asylum seekers)

In the EU-28 (3):

- 15 countries restrict access to employees with short working duration before birth (not Austria)
- The self-employed are not eligible in 10 countries (including Austria)
- 11 countries do not allow access for same-sex parents (not Austria)
- 19 countries limit access to refugees or asylum seekers (including no access for asylum seekers in Austria)

In Austria, self-employment is the only employment-related reason for non-eligibility for parental leave.

(1) Restrictions for same-sex couples, refugees and asylum seekers where they apply are not included in the simulations, so underestimates non-eligibility.

(2) The non-citizens category is multidimensional and cover other EU-28 citizens, 3rd country nationals, refugees and asylum seekers.

(3) The data was collected before the UK left the European Union.

Who are the self-employed and therefore not eligible for parental leave in Austria?

*Insufficient sample size for reporting

In Austria, 6 % of mothers and 12 % of fathers with a co-resident child aged less than 3 years are not eligible for leave, a gender gap of 6 percentage points. The gender gap for parents with young children is slightly larger than the national average (4 percentage points).
