Styling snippets of text with editor '' button

Read more content

This style allows the CM to temporarily hide a snippet of text and to replace it with label "Read more". When the user clicks on this label, the text will appear, allowing the user to read it. This style is different than "Toggling content" style analyzed below in the following ways:

- the more minimal UI gives less emphasis to the hidden text
- the text for the label that toggles (shows/hides) the text is not manageable in this case; it is always "Read more" and automatically added
- requires much simpler actions for the CM to apply this style

This style should be used only when Table of Contents is not displayed in the page, as it will overlap with the image.

See: <https://projects.invisionapp.com/share/ZWMZUOZK7F2#/screens/309097210> for the UI example of an off grid image; it is no longer aligned with the content, it expands on the right.
