

The Road to Sustainability Executive Summary: A review of Black, Asian, Minority Ethnic and Refugee organisations working with women on health and gender based violence in England

The Road to Sustainability; Executive Summary investigates the current situation of BAMER women's organisations and other specialist health services. It will help inform policy makers and the sector more widely, improving future policy engagement and work on stability and the sustainability of the women's sector, particularly the BAMER women's sector. The report provides recommendations for the development of tailored training and support programmes for WHEC in the area of sustainability and capacity building.
