
The Women's Room

Are you a woman? Are you an expert in your field? Do you feel under-represented in the media? You should. Research shows that, while women are present in the media – for example we represent 79% of victims – three-quarters of the media’s “experts” are men. A Radio 4 spokesperson claims that this is because they have to reflect the reality that there just aren’t that many women experts around. This website is about proving them wrong.
