

General Confederation of Greek Workers (GSEE)

The General Confederation of Greek Workers (GSEE), founded in 1918, is the third level Trade Union body in the country, in which 157 second level Trade Unions of workers with dependent employment are represented. With ESF funding, GSEE set up about a year ago 13 equality structures at regional, sectoral and national level. GSEE has played a very significant role in promoting parental leave rights through the National Collective Agreement that signed every 1-2 years with the major employers' confederations.
