

Poverty, gender and intersecting inequalities in the EU: Report

Review of the implementation of Area A: Women and Poverty of the Beijing Platform for Action

Poverty in Europe today is more than just a lack of resources for survival. It also involves a loss of opportunities for meaningful participation in all areas of life, which can cause detachment and exclusion of such people from society. Due to existing gender inequalities in public and private life, women are continually at a higher risk of poverty across the EU. This report is part of EIGE's mandate to monitor EU progress towards gender equality, specifically in relation to the objectives of the Beijing Platform for Action (BPfA).

Further information

Press release: Almost 23 million children in the EU are poor - For every additional child, a woman's risk of falling into poverty increases

Browse EIGE's reports and publications on the critical areas of the BPfA

Downloads

Poverty, gender and intersecting inequalities in the EU: Report

EN (PDF, 2.44 MB)

Metadata

AREAS: Beijing Platform for Action, Gender Mainstreaming

BPFA AREA: A. Women and Poverty

AUTHOR: EIGE

ISBN: 978-92-9493-299-0

DOI: 10.2839/065115