
Annual Activity Report of National Council for Combating Discrimination (CNCD)

Types of GBV

- ✗ Intimate Partner Violence
- ✗ Rape
- ✗ Sexual Assault (excl. rape)
- ✓ Sexual Harassment
- ✗ Stalking

* The NCCD investigates cases of sexual harassment at work as cases of gender based discrimination; a NCCD decision of discrimination can be used by the plaintiff as evidence in criminal/civil law cases. sexual harassment at the workplace can be filed to NCCD as the legal entity to give a verdict on a case of gender based discrimination; this is complementary to the legal action that can be persuade for such cases; a decision from NCCD is solid legal evidence in courts.

Quality assurance process

A complaint is filed with the NCCD, registered and then processed by an investigation specialist; if deemed as a suitable case of discrimination (if the complaint has all the formal requirements and if indeed is reports data compatible to a discrimination case then it is translated in a case file; the case file is given a registration number and the victim is required to bring all existence evidence to back up the case; then the offender is called before a NCCD committee; the case file is then passed to the council governing NCCD for a final conclusion and any administrative measures; the case file is processed into a data base sometime in process and the entry is concluded with the final conclusion offered by the council of NCCD;

Comparability

- ✘ Geographical
- ✘ Over time
- ✘ None

* The data recording model has been used for the past 6 years making data comparable across this time span

Timeliness

> 1 year

Additional information: These are annual statistics so there is a significant time lag between the incident and the final national statistics; however updates on recent incidents can be issued from NCCD because data processing is connected to one single person; the institution has a good public relation policy and data can be released upon database update.
