

Social and Health Care Teachers against Violence

Teacher's guidebook. The aims of the HEVI 2008-2010 project are to:

- support teachers to update their knowledge of intimate partner violence (IPV), including contemporary European research, and new principles and measures to prevent violence.
 - improve teachers' abilities to meet new challenges of IPV prevention based on practical professional experience in the Social and Health Care sectors at national levels, and on regional cooperation at the European level.
 - promote involvement of the teachers in the curriculum development at institutional and national planning level on IPV issues.
 - transfer innovative and good practice in vocational and further education through networking and cooperation between educational institutions on the issue of IPV at European level.
