

Code of police ethics

Describes the general obligations, guidelines for police action, during arrest and detention by the Police and during preliminary investigation. It describes also how to help out citizens and the role of the Police officer as a public servant.

Comments:

Document describes that the police shall take seriously the mental health, specific state and interests of victims of sexual exploitation or molestation, trying to limit the victim's secondary victimization. Document mentions that the Police shall also deal with exceptional sensitivity the women who are victims of physical, psychological or sexual violence or exploitation.
