

Awareness-raising seminars on gender issues for journalists and journalism students

The seminars took place in universities as well as in a professional media organisation's venue, with the participation of journalists, students and human rights activists. A collection of case studies from the Hungarian media was compiled and used at the seminars.

Weblinks

PDF

Aims and objectives

- To raise awareness among journalists and journalism students on gender equal reporting, particularly in relation to gender violence

Results and impact

Raised awareness about the issue among journalists and in the media and the thematization of the representation of victims of gender-based violence as an ethical issue.

Creator/owner/responsible institution

Hungarian Women's Lobby (Magyar Női Érdekérvényesítő Szövetség)

Stakeholder, Firstname: Lidia

Stakeholder, Family name: Balogh

Additional information

Subtype: Other awareness-raising tool: seminars for journalists and journalism students

Nuts code: HU

Metadata

ONGOING: No

TYPE: Awareness-raising campaigns/events

COVERAGE: National

TARGET GROUP: Media professionals, University students

KEYWORDS: media organisations, media professionals, awareness-raising initiatives, gender training, images of women, representation