

Gingerbread

Gingerbread is a registered charity (England and Wales) which provides advice, support and campaigns for single parent families. Following a merger with One Parent Families in 2007 it was briefly known as "One Parent Families Gingerbread" before relaunching as Gingerbread in January 2009. It provides advice and practical support for single parents and also runs campaigns around issues affecting single parents including welfare and benefits, family law, employment, child maintenance and childcare. They engage with parliamentarians and do public campaigning to raise these issues in the media and with the general public.
