

Advancing gender equality in political decision-making - Good Practices

The study has consulted stakeholders and experts, mapped experiences and initiatives in EU Member States directed to increase and improve the participation of women in political decision making as well as to promote gender equality in politics. The process has led to the identification of some relevant and effective practices on competence development, awareness-raising and gender mainstreaming bodies and approaches, presented in the publication, along with the context analysis and the methodological approach adopted.
