

Grey literature on agriculture and rural development

The screenshot shows a webpage with an orange header containing the EIGE logo and the title 'Grey literature on agriculture and rural development'. Below the header, there are several text blocks and an image. The text blocks include:

- A paragraph explaining what grey literature is and where it can be found.
- A section titled 'The relevance of gender in agriculture' with a sub-image of two people in a field.
- A section titled 'Grey literature in EIGE's library' describing the collection's scope.
- A section titled 'Policies' detailing the focus on the Common Agricultural Policy and other EU documents.
- A section titled 'Reading list' with a specific reference to Regulation 1305/2013.

Agriculture is one of the oldest and most widespread activities in the world. However, differences between women and men, be it in employment, pay or decisionmaking positions, still persist. Agriculture has a crucial role in food production, environmental protection, landscape preservation, rural employment and food security. Mainstreaming gender into this sector is therefore extremely important.
