

Grey literature on health

The screenshot shows the top part of a webpage titled 'Grey literature on health'. It features the EIGE logo and a navigation bar. The main content area is divided into several sections: 'What is grey literature?', 'The relevance of gender in health', 'Grey literature in EIGE's library', 'Gender differences in health', and 'change, gender and health'. There is also a small image of a heart-shaped bowl of fruit and a stethoscope.

Health policy needs to adequately explore and address the combination of social and biological sources of differences in women's and men's health. An understanding of the interaction between sex and gender in the development and management of health can be beneficial in terms of prevention, intervention and outcome.
