

Grey literature on justice

The screenshot shows a webpage with an orange header containing the EIGE logo and the title 'Grey literature on justice'. Below the header, there are several text blocks and an image. The text blocks include:

- A definition of grey literature: 'What is grey literature? It is literature produced by non-commercial publishers, such as public institutions, universities, research institutes and civil society. It contains a lot of useful content, but is often hard to find as it is scattered across different locations. EIGE has collected grey literature on gender equality and you can access our collection through a simple search interface. EIGE's collection of grey literature is available in several EU languages and documents come from all EU Member States.'
- A quote: 'The relevance of gender in justice: It is essential that there is gender equality in the justice field. Access to justice is a fundamental human right and an integral aspect of the rule of law.'
- A section titled 'Grey literature in EIGE's library' with text: 'EIGE's library holds one of the largest collections of gender-related literature related to justice. The collection presents good practices of current policies throughout Europe as well as gender indicators aimed at assessing gender equality in this domain. Several resources focus on the ways in which the EU has mainstreamed gender into policy processes. You will also find research reports and statistical documents providing data on key gender issues related to justice.'
- A section titled 'Anti-discrimination policies' with text: 'In the library you will find resources on anti-discrimination legislation and policies. Many of the resources discuss how European and national equality legislation is implemented and enforced. You will also find resources that examine patterns across communities regarding social norms and gender roles, as well as women's empowerment. Our collection of grey literature includes a broad range of issues related to multiple discrimination, such as migrant women, disabled women, Roma women and LGBTI asylum seekers.'
- A 'Reading list' box containing:
 - Budgeting for women's rights: monitoring government budget for compliance with CEDAW.
 - On Norms and Agency — Contributions about gender equality with women and men in 20 countries.
 - Second Gender Inequality Policy Intervention for Roma Women — The Decade of Roma Inclusion 2005-2015 in Hungary.
 - Current migration situation in the EU indicates why it should integrate and reform asylum systems.

 An image of a gavel and a document labeled 'GENDER DISCRIMINATION' is also visible on the right side of the page.

It is essential that there is gender equality in the justice field. Access to justice is a fundamental human right and an integral aspect of the rule of law.
