Gender Equality Index 2023: Towards a green transition in transport and energy 	Report	October	The Gender Equality Index 2023 presents the EU in relation to gender equality amid crises and uncertainties. In recent years, the world has been hit by repeated shocks and multiple crises. What remains constant is the fact that when crisis strikes, women and girls suffer disproportionately. The crises and shocks continuously threaten to create new challenges and reverse years of progress on women's rights and gender equality. The thematic focus of the Gender Equality Index 2023 is the European Green Deal's socially fair transition and its implications for gender equality. This report seeks to strengthen the knowledge base on the impact of the green transition towards a low carbon society from a gender and intersectional perspective. It focuses on two specific priority sectors of the European Green Deal's socially fair transition, namely energy and transportation.	EN
Methodological Guidance: Administrative data collection on violence against women and domestic violence 	Methodological guidance	December	This report presents the approach and methodology used by EIGE in 2023 data collection on violence against women (VAW) and domestic violence. EIGE has developed 13 indicators to guide the data collection efforts of the police and justice sectors. These indicators help to assess the progress made at the national level to reduce VAW and domestic violence, and enhance the comparability of data in alignment with the minimum requirements of the EU's victims' rights directive and the Council of Europe's Istanbul Convention.	EN

European Institute for Gender Equality

We are an independent centre and the primary source for information on gender equality in the European Union. We contribute to making the European Union become a Union of Equality, where women and men, girls and boys in all their diversity are free to pursue their chosen path in life, have equal opportunities to thrive, and can equally participate in and lead our societies.
