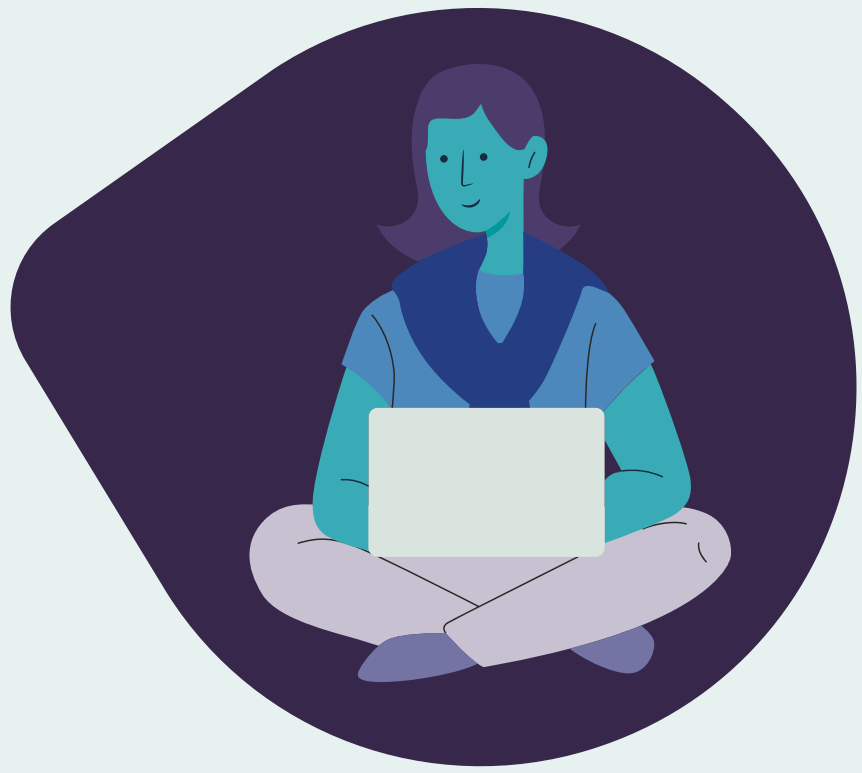
European Institute for Gender Equality

Gender equality benefits everyone

But it's still 60 years away



If you want to get there faster, here's how we can assist

1 Get the facts

We are the EU's knowledge centre on gender equality

If you need to know more about gender equality, then come to us first.

Our Gender Equality Index and Gender Statistics Database are fully searchable - on topics ranging from gender-based violence to the representation of women and men in decision making positions.

Every policy has a gender dimension

We can help you shape policy which delivers on your priorities AND improves gender equality at the same time. For example:

- Digitalisation: so everyone has equal access to digital services and is protected against online violence
- Green Transition: so we can have a more sustainable future for all
- The future of work: so women and men benefit equally from flexible work, training and new career opportunities.

Sharing our knowledge and expertise

We continue to support the FEMM committee with our data and evidence. And we welcome gender mainstreaming approaches from other EP committees, for example when a rapporteur prepares a report or a hearing and wants to include a gender perspective.

2 Put gender equality into practice

Making gender mainstreaming work

MEPs are uniquely placed to ensure that every phase of the policy cycle factors in gender equality.

We produce toolkits and provide 'good practices' that deliver better results across these areas:

- Budgeting
- Impact assessments
- Institutional transformation
- Green Deal delivery and evaluation
- Public procurement
- Communications
- Gender-sensitivity in parliaments
- Sexism-free workplace

Find them all on our website at

European Institute for Gender Equality | An EU Agency

We produce independent research and share best practice to promote gender equality and eliminate gender discrimination.

As the EU agency for gender equality, we help people achieve equal opportunities so everyone can thrive, independent of their gender and background.

We combine research, data and tools to help policy makers design measures that are inclusive, transformative and promote gender equality in all areas of life.
