1. Introduction

The Gender Statistics Database of the European Institute for Gender Equality (EIGE) contains a wide range of statistics from all over the European Union (EU) and beyond. The database brings together data collected by EIGE and data produced by both international and national institutions to provide a central access point for anyone interested in data with a gender dimension.

In January 2017, EIGE took over the database on women and men in decision-making (WMID), which was previously managed by the European Commission. The WMID database had been launched in 2003 to monitor the numbers of men and women in key decision-making positions to provide reliable statistics that can be used to draw comparisons between European countries and analyse the current situation and trends through time. All the statistics on decision-making are now integrated into the “Women and men in decision-making” entry point of EIGE’s Gender Statistics Database.

Statistics on women and men in decision-making provide a key element to assess the implementation of the EU Gender Equality Strategy 2026-2030, section 3 “Leading equally throughout society”, progress towards United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (Goal 5 – gender equality), as well as various areas of the Beijing Platform for Action, a commitment from the Council of the European Union, and are used as primary source of indicators for monitoring several other policy initiatives (see section 1.4.4).

Statistics on the numbers of women and men in positions of power and influence are collected for the following domains:

- politics
- public administration
- judiciary
- business and finance
- social partners and NGOs
- environment and climate change
- media
- science and research
- sports
- transport
- COVID-19

- EU funding

The geographic coverage of the data has been expanded through time. Currently data are collected for 37 countries (see section 1.1 below), and depending on the topic, the data may cover international, European, national, regional and local levels.

For the most part, data are updated annually but some data of particular interest are updated more frequently (e.g. politics, companies), whilst for others data may be collected every two years (see section 1.3). Data are disseminated within one month of collection.

The collection of data on decision-making for the EU candidate countries and potential candidates (i.e., the IPA beneficiaries) for the period 2018-2022 was funded by the European Commission under the Instrument for Pre-accession Assistance (IPA). Data for the IPA beneficiaries were not collected in 2024, and only partial data were collected in 2025.

This document sets out the methodological basis for the collection of data on decision-making, providing information on the coverage of the data (countries, organisations, and decision-making positions), definitions applied, and methods of collection for each topic. It starts with general definitions and then presents detailed information for each domain.

1.1 Geographic coverage

Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Albania, Serbia, and Türkiye), one potential candidate (Kosovo) and the remaining three EEA countries (Iceland, Liechtenstein, and Norway). Data were collected for the United Kingdom up to 2024. Coverage has expanded through time (see Annex: Geographic coverage).

See topic specific sections for divergences in coverage.

1.2 General definitions

1.2.1 Decision-making position

A decision-making position is a position from which it is possible to take or influence a decision:

- within a domain: at organisational level. This restricts coverage to organisations having a major influence in the domain at the territorial level of interest, which is usually national but can also be international, European, regional, or local.
- within an organisation: at hierarchical level. This restricts coverage to bodies and positions within the hierarchy that have a major input to decision-making and a regulatory and/or strategic role within the organisation.

Generally, the highest decision-making body/bodies within an organisation is/are covered. These are identified from the relevant statutes or equivalent document (e.g. charter, internal regulations, law, etc.). However, coverage is restricted to bodies which:

- have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation;
- take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and
- whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations.

As a general rule, therefore, bodies such as the General Assembly or General Congress, which tend to meet annually to guide and approve the actions/strategy of a managing body but have no day-to-day involvement in decision-making, are not covered.

As a general approach, the count of the members of a decision-making body always includes the chair or president. Further, only positions with real influence in decision-making are included so that members with no voting rights, or with only an observer or advisor role are not counted.

The positions covered are specific to each area of decision-making and are described in detail in each topic specific section.

1.2.2 Statistical unit and population

The statistical unit in WMID data is the organisational unit as defined by each specific topic (e.g. a house of parliament or a large listed company). Data are then collected on the numbers of men and women occupying decision-making positions within that unit.

See topic specific sections for details on organisations and positions covered.

1.2.3 Unit of measure

The unit of measure is always the number of persons (headcount). Data by sex are also presented as a percent of the total.

1.3 Release policy and frequency of dissemination

Data are updated quarterly for political decision-making at European and national level, biannually for largest listed companies and annually for most other topics. Political data at regional level are updated annually except when there has been an election (data for affected regions are updated in the next quarterly collection), and data on national social partner organisations, and national academies of science are updated every other year. Data are disseminated within one month of the data collection to all types of users simultaneously via the EIGE Gender Statistics Database.

See topic specific sections for details on the data collection schedule.

1.4 Data quality and relevance

1.4.1 Quality assurance

WMID data are collected either directly from the organisations covered or from umbrella organisations providing data on behalf of member organisations. The majority of data are collected from the websites or other publications produced by the organisations concerned but some are collected from direct contacts. There are three main risks in the data collection: ensuring the right decision-making bodies and positions are identified; ensuring that the gender of the people in these positions is correctly recorded; and ensuring that the information is up-to-date.

The data are collected by a team of experienced researchers and are subject to routine validation that includes:

- cross-checking of data relating to at least 10% of the organisations covered (randomly selected) by another researcher;
- verification of data with the organisation concerned, where necessary;
- comparison of data with previous periods and review in case of significant change.

1.4.2 Completeness

WMID data are comprehensive (cover all relevant organisations) and complete (data are available for all relevant positions in each organisation covered) in the vast majority of cases, although the completeness of data depends on the extent to which the organisations covered openly publish, or are willing to share, information about their key decision-making personnel. In general, there is increasing pressure on organisations of all types to be completely transparent about their organisational structure and operational practices so that completeness of the data has improved through time.

Decision-making positions that are vacant at the time of data collection (e.g. following the resignation of a member) are not counted towards the total of positions and recorded as zero. As a general approach, if all seats/positions are vacant (e.g. temporary disbandment of a decision-making body), data are recorded and flagged as “not applicable”. This approach ensures that data reflect the situation at the time of observation (and does not mean data are incomplete). However, when data consist on just one organisation per country (e.g. national governments, parliament), latest data available from previous period are used in order not to disrupt time-series and EU aggregates.

See topic specific sections for details on data completeness.

1.4.3 Accuracy

In principle, the WMID data accurately describe the situation for the area of decision-making concerned, though in some areas the coverage of organisations is restricted to limit the cost and burden of the data collection, and this could potentially impact on overall accuracy.

See topic specific sections for details on data accuracy.

1.4.4 Relevance

WMID data are used as the primary source of information for indicators to monitor a number of important strategies and policy initiatives at the EU level, including:

- Area G (Power and decision-making) of the Beijing Platform for Action: the data are used by the European Commission and the European Institute for Gender Equality (EIGE) for analysis in this area and for reporting to the Council of the European Union.
- EIGE also uses several WMID datasets in the calculation of the power domain of Gender Equality Index (GEI), which is monitored on a regular basis.
- The European Commission uses WMID data to track progress towards the key objectives of its Gender Equality Strategy 2020 – 2025. These data are published in the dedicated monitoring portal.
- WMID data on largest listed companies provide key information in the achievement of the targets set by the EU directive on gender balance amongst directors of listed companies of November 2022.
- Finally, the datasets on national parliaments, local/municipal councils, and largest listed companies are the primary source for the regular monitoring of progress towards the EU Sustainable Development Goals (SDG), Goal 5 – gender equality both by Eurostat and by the United Nations.

1.5 Comparability and coherence

1.5.1 Geographic comparability

WMID data are considered comparable between countries but it is necessary to bear in mind the different institutional settings that exist and the fact that decision-making structures vary between organisations within countries as well as between countries. There are, therefore, inherent differences between countries in the way that decision-making is organised but the WMID methodology aims to allow for such variation so that the organisations and positions covered in each country are as comparable as possible.

See topic specific sections for details on geographic comparability.

1.5.2 Comparability over time

In general, WMID data are comparable through time in each area of decision-making. Nevertheless, it is necessary to bear in mind that the organisations covered and the decision-making structures within these may change through time (e.g. government ministries are often reorganised following a change of government, and the constituents of the blue-chip indices used to define the sample of large listed companies are updated by the responsible stock exchange on a regular basis).

See topic specific sections for details on comparability over time.

1.5.3 Coherence

In general, there are few other sources of data on decision-making against which to assess the coherence of WMID data. Some national data exist for selected areas of decision-making but the methodology is often not the same (i.e. the coverage of organisations and/or positions within these varies) so that direct comparison is not possible.

Internal coherence of the data (e.g. through time or across countries) is ensured through careful application of the WMID methodology and routine validation of data.

See topic specific sections for details on coherence with other datasets.

1.6 Data revision

There is no fixed revision schedule, and any necessary revisions are made on an ad hoc basis. For example, a response to a request to verify or clarify the information collected for a particular organisation is received after the data collection has closed and the results disseminated, and the information leads to a change in the data. Data may also be revised following methodological reviews. Such updates are made at the next available opportunity (i.e. next scheduled publication), and all revisions are documented systematically in the metadata.

See topic specific sections for details on revisions of data.

1.7 Statistical processing

1.7.1 Source of data and data collection

The WMID data are a form of administrative data derived from the records that organisations keep regarding the personnel occupying key positions within the organisation. In all areas of decision-making, data cover all organisations within the scope defined by the methodology. In some areas (e.g. national level politics) all relevant organisations/bodies are covered (e.g. parliaments and governments) whilst in others the methodology restricts coverage so that the data effectively represent a sample of organisations within the specific area (e.g. data on decision-making in largest listed companies are restricted to the nationally registered constituents of the main blue-chip index for the country).

Data are directly collected primarily from official websites of the organisations covered, but also from other official publications and from direct contacts within the organisations concerned.

See topic specific sections for details on source of data and data collection.

1.7.2 Data compilation

Data collected from individual organisations are aggregated by position to the national or organisational level, where relevant.

EU-27 figures are based on an aggregate of data at national level, with the percentages of men and women calculated from these aggregates. The shares of men and women observed at the EU level are therefore weighted averages rather than an average of the shares at country level.

For data on organisations at the EU and international levels, total figures are based on an aggregate of data at organisational level, with the percentages of men and women calculated from these aggregates. The total shares of men and women are therefore weighted averages rather than an average of the shares at organisational level.

2. Politics

2.1 Parliaments and assemblies

2.1.1 European Parliament

Organisations covered	The European Parliament is a legislative parliament, exercising powers similar to those of national parliaments. The European Parliament, as an equal partner with the Council of Ministers, passes the majority of European laws that affect the lives of Europe's citizens.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: elected President of the European Parliament</li> <li>• Members: members of the European Parliament (MEPs) (count includes the president)</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• MEPs are elected in the 27 EU Member States and seats are allocated based on the population of each country.</li> <li>• Data show breakdown by country.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	WMID data on the European Parliament were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003. The dataset also includes data collected in 1999 in the context of work undertaken by the Council of the European Union to monitor the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on a quarterly basis, typically as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> <li>• Q4: October/November</li> </ul>
Completeness	Data are complete. Data broken down by country available for 1999Q1 and 1999Q3 and from 2009Q4 onwards. For other periods (2003Q3-2009Q3) only aggregated figures at the EU level are available.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Seats are allocated based on the population of each Member State and therefore the number of members by country will vary. After departure of the United Kingdom, seats were redistributed amongst the remaining 27 EU Member States in February 2020. Apart from this point, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There are variations in the number of members of the European Parliament (MEPs) due to changes in the EU membership. The main changes are as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Elections June 2004: following the accession of 10 new countries (Czechia, Estonia, Cyprus, Latvia, Lithuania, Hungary, Malta, Poland, Slovenia, and Slovakia), the number of MEPs increased from 626 to 732.</li> <li>• January 2007: the number of MEPs temporarily increased to 785 after the accession of Bulgaria and Romania.</li> <li>• June 2009: the number of seats was reduced to 736.</li> <li>• December 2009: 18 seats were added temporarily to reach 754.</li> <li>• July 2013: with the accession of Croatia, the number of MEPs temporarily increased to 766.</li> <li>• July 2014: 751 MEPs were elected, in line with the maximum number of seats set by the Lisbon Treaty (750 MEPs+President).</li> <li>• February 2020: with the departure of the United Kingdom, the number of MEPs reduced from 751 to 705 (704 MEPs+President).</li> </ul> There are also small variations between these periods due to temporary vacant seats following resignations of members. For 2022Q4 data, the number of MEPs temporarily dropped from 705 to 696 due to the resignation of several Italian MEPs, as they got elected to national parliament. Their replacement had not yet taken office or was not reflected in the European Parliament website at the time when data were being collected.

Coherence with other datasets	The official website of the European Parliament publishes the distribution of women and men in the opening session of each parliamentary term ( https://www.europarl.europa.eu/election-results-2019/en/mep-gender-balance/2019-2024/ ). However, data are not presented in absolute numbers (only the share by gender are shown), and do not reflect changes between elections (e.g. when one or more MEPs are replaced for some reason). The WMID data show the actual situation each quarter.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection from the official website.
Mapping tables	None.

2.1.2 National parliaments

Organisations covered	The national parliament is the national legislative assembly. In a bicameral system, the parliament consists of two chambers or houses - a lower house and an upper house. In a unicameral system, there is a single house of parliament.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: speaker/leader of the house</li> <li>• Members: members of parliament (count includes the president)</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the remaining three EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	WMID data on national parliaments were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003 (for 26 countries) and then on a quarterly basis from the 2nd quarter of 2004 (the only gap in the series is the 3rd quarter of 2007). The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Lithuania: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Malta: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Poland: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005Q4</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007Q1</li> <li>• North Macedonia: 2007Q4</li> <li>• Serbia: 2007Q4</li> <li>• Montenegro: 2015Q1</li> <li>• Albania: 2018Q3</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018Q3</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2018Q3</li> </ul> In addition, for the EU-15 Member States only (including the United Kingdom), the dataset includes data collected in 1999 (for lower/single chambers only) in the context of work undertaken by the Council of the European Union to monitor the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action. Data for the United Kingdom were collected up to 2024Q4.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on a quarterly basis, typically as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> <li>• Q4: October/November</li> </ul> In 2022-2023, data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were collected annually (October/November). The 2025Q4 data for IPA beneficiaries were collected in December.
Completeness	Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024, 2025Q1-2025Q3, and 2026Q1.

Accuracy	In the following cases, the parliament was dissolved at the time of data collection, hence data from the last period were used: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018Q4 data (upper and lower houses of parliament) refer to 2018Q3.</li> <li>• Spain: 2019Q2 data (upper and lower houses of parliament) refer to 2019Q1.</li> <li>• United Kingdom: 2019Q4 data (lower house of parliament) refer to 2019Q3.</li> <li>• Ireland: 2020Q2 data (upper house) refer to 2020Q1.</li> <li>• Bulgaria: 2022Q3 data refer to 2022Q2. Data for 2023Q1 refer to 2022Q4.</li> <li>• Malta and Albania: 2023Q4 data refer to 2023Q3.</li> </ul> Apart from these points, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The main difference between countries is that some have a unicameral system with just one house of parliament whilst others have a bicameral system with two houses. The data are organised by type of house to take this difference into account. Apart from this point, data are fully comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There is generally little change through time, other than frequent changes in the number of members of parliament due to resignations (and seats therefore being vacant until a by-election can be organised). Occasional structural changes and changes in the size of a parliament following legal reforms are listed below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Norway: in 2009Q4, the Lagting (upper house) and Odelsting (lower house) were dissolved and replaced with a single house of parliament known as the Storting.</li> <li>• Romania: in 2013Q1, the number of seats in the Camera Deputaţilor (lower house) was increased from 334 to 412, and the number of seats in the Senatul (upper house) was increased from 137 to 176.</li> <li>• Hungary: in 2014Q2, the number of members of the unicameral National Assembly was reduced from 386 to 199.</li> <li>• Türkiye: in 2018Q3, the number of seats of the parliament was increased from 550 to 600.</li> <li>• Romania: in 2017Q1, the number of seats in the Camera Deputaţilor (lower house) was reduced from 412 to 329, and the number of seats in the Senatul (upper house) was reduced from 176 to 136.</li> <li>• Italy: in 2022Q4, the number of members of the Camera dei Deputati (lower house) was reduced from 630 to 400, and the number of members of the Senato (upper house) was reduced from 315 to 200.</li> <li>• Malta: in 2022Q4, 12 seats (exclusively for women) were added to the parliament after the elections in response to a constitutional amendment to increase the number of members of parliament from the “lesser represented gender”. The number of seats increased from 67 to 79.</li> <li>• Germany: following the constitutional court ruling in 2024, the number of seats in the Bundestag (lower house) was reduced from 733 to 630 in the election held in March 2025 (reflected in WMID data for 2025Q1).</li> <li>• Ireland: following the electoral amendment act 2023, the number of seats increased from 160 to 174 in effect from elections held in November 2024.</li> </ul> In addition, the number of members of parliament in certain countries may have slight variations over time due to the use of “levelling” seats, “adjustment” seats or “overhang” seats. These may be allocated, based on different systems, to ensure rough proportionality between the overall share of votes for a party at the national level and the number of seats in the parliament. Such mechanisms are used in Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Iceland, Germany (since 2013) and Romania (2008 and 2012 elections). Changes in the electoral system in Romania in the 2012 elections had a great impact in the number of seats (from 471 to 588 for both houses), which was then re-established in 2016 (465 seats in total).

Coherence with other datasets	The Inter-Parliamentary Union (IPU) collects data on the numbers of men and women in parliaments across the world (see IPU Parline site). However, the IPU data mostly refer to the situation at the last election and are not kept up-to-date in case a person elected does not take up their seat or in case of mid-term changes due to resignations/substitutions (both of which can sometimes make a significant difference to the gender balance). The WMID data and IPU data will be coherent in cases where the WMID data were collected immediately after an election but otherwise the WMID data are more timely and accurate. The IPU data are also disseminated by the World Bank in their databank of gender statistics and by UN in the UN SDG Indicators database.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied in the specified period: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2017Q3: 2014Q3–2017Q2 data for members in the single/lower house of parliament in Hungary revised.</li> <li>• 2019Q2: 2017Q3–2018Q4 data for members in the single/lower house of parliament in France revised.</li> <li>• 2019Q4: 2019Q3 data for the upper house of the parliament in Belgium revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q1: 2018Q3–2019Q4 data for the single/lower house of parliament in Czechia and Italy revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q2: 2019Q3–2020Q1 data for president of the upper house in Netherlands revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q4: 2020Q1–2020Q3 data for president of the upper house in Spain and 2019Q4–2020Q3 data for members of the lower house in Poland revised.</li> <li>• 2022Q4: 2021Q4, 2022Q1 and 2022Q2 data for president of the lower house in Germany revised. 2022Q3 data for single/lower house of parliament in Malta revised.</li> <li>• 2024Q1: 2023Q3–2023Q4 data for members of the single/lower house of parliament in Greece and lower house of parliament in Czechia were revised.</li> <li>• 2025Q1: 2023Q3–2024Q4 data for members of the single/lower house of parliament in Portugal were revised.</li> <li>• 2025Q3: 2025Q1–2025Q2 data for members of the upper house of parliament in Ireland were revised.</li> <li>• 2025Q4: 2025Q3 data for members of the upper house of parliament in Belgium were revised.</li> </ul>

2.1.3 Parliamentary bureaus and committees

2.1.3.1 Bureau of the European Parliament

Organisations covered	The bureau of the European Parliament is the body forming the decisional and operative structure around the Speaker of the parliament.

Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	WMID data on bureau of the European Parliament were first collected in November 2024.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis. First data collected in November in 2024, and in June/July from 2025.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.

Comparability over time	There is generally little change through time, thus the comparability of data over time is considered good.

2.1.3.2 Bureaus of national parliaments

Organisations covered	A parliamentary bureau is a body forming the decisional and operative structure around the Speaker of the parliament (“board” or the “presidium”). Based on the parliamentary system (unicameral or bicameral), there will be one (single house) or two bureaus (one for the lower house and one for the upper house). Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In cases where there is no parliamentary bureau, the following bodies/positions are covered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Single/lower house of Ireland, Hungary and Malta, the upper house of the United Kingdom, and both houses in Czechia: a permanent/standing committee chaired by the speaker fulfilling the role of the bureau and the president (chair) and members of the committee are covered.</li> <li>○ Single/lower house of Slovakia and the upper house in Ireland and Slovenia. There is no permanent/standing committee fulfilling this role hence the president and vice-president(s) of the house are counted instead.</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the bureau (the speaker)</li> <li>• Members: members of the bureau or equivalent (count includes the president (the speaker))</li> </ul>

Frequency of data collection and reference period	From 2019, data are collected on an annual basis. Data collected in August/September up to 2024, and in June/July from 2025.
Completeness	Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	A parliamentary bureau does not exist in all countries. In these cases, either the permanent/standing committee acting as the bureau is covered or the speaker and the deputy speaker(s) are counted in case there is no such committee. Also, in some countries, the parliamentary bureau consists only of the president (speaker) and vice-presidents, whilst in others they also include other positions (such as Secretaries or Clerks). Apart from these points, data are fully comparable between countries.

Comparability over time	There is generally little change through time, thus the comparability of data over time is considered good.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no other dataset compiling the number of women and men presidents and members of parliamentary bureaus over time.

Comparability across countries	The main difference between countries is that some have a unicameral system with just one house of parliament whilst others have a bicameral system with two houses. Comparability over time	There may be changes in the number of committees by country i.e., following amendments to the rules of procedure or legislative elections. In addition, structural changes and changes in the size of a parliament following legal reforms also have an impact in the size of parliamentary committees. ## 2.1.4 Regional assemblies

Organisations covered	Regional assemblies refer to the representative assembly of a region (i.e. regional authority) which is composed of popularly elected representatives of constituent self-governing regions. Note that the different terms used in each country - e.g. regional parliament, regional council, and regional assembly - are all considered equivalent. The term “region” refers to regional, territorial, authorities that are endowed with self-government, between the central government and local authorities. This does not necessarily imply a hierarchical relationship between regional and local authorities. Regional self-government denotes the legal competence and the ability of regional authorities, within the limits of the constitution and the law, to regulate and manage a share of public affairs under their own responsibility, in the interests of the regional population and in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity.
Reference area	Currently, there are no regional authorities in 13 () of the 37 countries covered in the WMID data. Thus, only 23 countries are covered. () BG, EE, IE, CY, LT, LU, MT, SI, ME, MK, XK, IS, LI

Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2003 (for 20 countries), where applicable. Since then, data have been collected on an annual basis and updated quarterly in case of regional elections. The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004</li> <li>• Greece: 2004</li> <li>• Latvia: 2004</li> <li>• Poland: 2004</li> <li>• Slovakia: 2004</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007</li> <li>• Serbia: 2008</li> <li>• Albania: 2018</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> </ul>
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis in the last quarter of the year, generally between October and November. In addition, data are updated quarterly where there have been regional elections. In such cases, typically, data are collected as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> </ul> In 2022-2023, data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not updated quarterly in case of regional elections (only collected annually, between October and November). The 2025 data for IPA beneficiaries were collected in December 2025 and January 2026.

Comparability across	Regions refer to the regional authorities between the level of national and local government (though

countries	hierarchical control is not implied) which are endowed with self-government and are therefore not applicable in all countries. Currently 13 () of the 37 countries covered in the WMID data do not have regions following this definition. In addition, the heterogeneity of national systems implies that there are differences in the competences, power, financial resources, and average size of regional authorities across the countries covered in the database. () BG, EE, IE, CY, LT, LU, MT, SI, ME, MK, XK, IS, LI
Comparability over time	The number of regions covered across years may vary due to changes in administrative landscaping (i.e., mergers or divisions of existing regions), reforms in the regional governance system, or methodological revisions. These changes have an impact on the comparability of data over time. Following changes in administrative landscaping and legal reforms, the number of regions covered in the WMID data changed for the countries listed below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Denmark: The Danish Municipal reform abolished the 14 traditional counties (administrative regions) and replaced them with 5 regions in 2007.</li> <li>• Greece: The legal reform passed in 2010 (with changes implemented in 2011), abolished the 54 prefectures (main regional administrative unit) and replaced them with 13 administrative regions, mainly responsible for dealing with regional development and economic policy.</li> <li>• France: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ As Mayotte became an outermost region of the EU in 2014, the number of regions covered increased from 26 to 27 in 2014.</li> <li>○ The territorial reform passed in 2014 (changes implemented in January 2016) reduced the number of regions from 27 to 18 by merging some areas and granting them more competences. The number of assembly members increased depending on the size of the region.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Latvia: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ The administrative territorial reform implemented in July 2009 changed the administrative divisions from two-level municipalities (i.e. first level: districts and second level: towns, cities, parishes and towns countryside territories) to one-level municipalities, abolished the 33 districts and replaced them with 5 planning regions.</li> <li>○ The 2020 administrative reform (with changes implemented from 2021 local elections) reduced the number of local authorities from 119 to 43. Consequently, the number of regional assembly members in Latvian regions reduced in 2021.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Finland: The coverage dropped from 20 to 19 regions in 2011 following the merger of two regions (Itä-uudenmaa and Uusimaa).</li> <li>• Sweden: The coverage increased from 20 to 21 regions in 2011 as the municipality of Gotland was granted the powers of regional self-government.</li> <li>• Türkiye: The legal reform passed in 2012 (changes implemented in 2014) abolished the special provincial administrations of 30 provinces and replaced them with 30 metropolitan municipalities (16 of which were already in place and had local government powers, and 14 newly created) by extending their authority and granting them the same level of power as the regional government. Following the reform, there are now 30 metropolitan municipalities and 51 provinces with regional government powers (was 81 provinces before the reform).</li> <li>• Norway: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Following the administrative reform passed in 2017 (changes implemented progressively), the number of regions covered dropped from 19 to 18 in 2018 and from 18 to 11 in 2020.</li> <li>○ In January 2024, Viken region was abolished and replaced with three new regions (Akershus, Buskerud, Østfold) and Troms og Finnmark region split into two regions (Troms, Finnmark), increasing the number of regions covered from 11 to 14.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> Furthermore, there were changes in the number of regions covered in the WMID data for the countries listed below following methodological revisions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Bulgaria: The 9 provinces covered from 2003 to 2006 (administrative units) were excluded from the data in 2007. The coverage for the United Kingdom was revised in 2006 to include only the 4 regional authorities (Greater London Authority, Northern Ireland, Scotland, and Wales).</li> </ul>
Coherence with other datasets	The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of men and women in local councils in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE Statistical Database, but only cover up to 2015. UNECE also collects data on the number of elected women and men in local deliberative bodies, based on national official sources, which is published in the UN Women website Women in Local Government. Sometimes, UNECE data for local councils cover both the administrative level covered in the WMID data on regional assemblies and local/municipal councils. UNECE data are however not disaggregated by level (i.e. municipal and region). In addition, the overlap occurs only for certain countries, and in some cases not for all years (e.g. there are breaks in series). Moreover, the UNECE dataset does not include disaggregated data for leaders/presidents of the assemblies. There is thus no direct coherence between these datasets.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: 2014 and 2015 data for Mayotte in France were added.</li> <li>• 2020: 2019 data for members of regional assembly for Lezhë in Albania added (previously not available).</li> <li>• 2025: the following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ 2024 data for Czechia (Olomoucky), Spain (Euskadi/País Vasco), Poland (Opolskie, and Zachodnio-pomorskie), Norway (Troms and Finnmark)</li> <li>○ 2023-2024 data for Italy (2024 for Abruzzo and 2023-2024 for Molise)</li> <li>○ 2021-2024 data for Romania (2021-2024 data for Alba, 2024 data for Calarasi and Iasi)</li> <li>○ 2022-2024 data for Slovakia (Zilinsky)</li> <li>○ 2008 and 2024 data for Denmark (Sjælland)</li> </ul> </li> </ul>

2.1.5 Local/municipal councils

Organisations covered	Local councils refer to the representative assembly of a municipality, city or town. The local political level is taken to be the lowest administrative subdivision with self-government and the associated political, administrative, and fiscal powers that have an elected representative body. In most countries, this is the municipality. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Where the decision-making power in diverse areas (education, tax collection, etc.) is split between several local authorities, all these authorities are included. For instance, many parts of England have two tiers of local government (county councils and district, borough or city councils) while other parts have just one tier of local government (unitary authorities) providing all the local services. All these are covered by the data. The same approach is applied in large cities.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Mayor or other council leader. In general, municipal councils are led by the mayor. However, in cases where the position of mayor is largely ceremonial with no real political power, the leader of the council is counted instead.</li> <li>• Members of the local/municipal council (councillors). Count includes the mayor/leader.</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ceremonial positions are not considered as WMID data focus on elected positions.</li> <li>• City councillors are elected by universal suffrage in the majority of European countries, whereas mayors may be elected directly by citizens or appointed by the council.</li> </ul>

Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Data for Cyprus cover displaced municipalities from the Turkish-controlled territory. Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2011 for 34 countries. The geographic coverage has expanded through time. For Montenegro, the time series starts in 2015 whilst for Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo, it starts in 2019.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data were collected on a biennial basis (every two years) up to 2019, typically between March and July. Since 2020, data are collected on an annual basis. The 2025 data for IPA beneficiaries were collected in December.
Completeness	Data are generally complete although there are some gaps: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Romania: data on councillors not available for 2011-2015.</li> <li>• Slovakia: data on councillors not available for 2011 and 2013.</li> <li>• Austria: data on councillors for 2011-2015 cover only municipalities in five Federal States.</li> <li>• Czechia: Mayors Data (Primátor) only covers statutory cities, Data for “Starosta” not available</li> <li>• Germany: partial data, for some of the 16 Federal States are available in most cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ 2011 data cover municipalities in five Federal States for mayors and in seven Federal States for councillors;</li> <li>○ 2013 &amp; 2015 data cover municipalities in six Federal States for mayors and seven for councillors;</li> <li>○ 2017 data for mayors and councillors cover municipalities in nine Federal States; and</li> <li>○ 2019-2022 data for mayors cover the municipalities in eleven Federal States and in ten Federal States for councillors.</li> <li>○ Only partial data were available for the municipalities in one region of Germany (Niedersachsen).</li> </ul> </li> </ul> Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024.
Accuracy	In some cases, the only data available refer to the latest election results, thus might not reflect the actual composition of municipal councils and share of women among mayors at the time of data collection. In addition, within the same country data may refer to different dates (e.g. for the United Kingdom, often data for England refers to latest available election results, whilst for Scotland, Wales and Northern Ireland data refer to the situation as of date of collection). In some countries, local elections do not take place at the same time in all areas (e.g. Germany and Austria). Other cases include: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Slovakia: for 2015, 2017, and 2019 data, the distribution of councillors and mayors by gender is an estimation based on gender-specific properties of the surnames of elected representatives.</li> <li>• Iceland: 2022 data for mayors refers to 2021 (up-to-date data not available).</li> <li>• North Macedonia: 2025 data for councillors refers to 2021 election results (up-to-date data on 2025 elections not available).</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2025 data for councillors refers to 2023 election results (up-to-date data on 2025 elections not available).</li> </ul>
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	There is heterogeneity of national systems of local governance. There are differences in the competences, power, financial resources, and average size of municipalities and other local authorities across European countries covered. The differences in size and number of municipalities results in heavy weighting of the EU-27 and all countries aggregates by few countries. The lowest administrative units do not always correspond to the lowest level of self- government. In some cases (e.g. Portugal and Türkiye), there are two systems of local government in place depending on the size of the municipality, but only the larger level is taken into account because this is the administrative unit with real decision-making power.

	In most cases, capital and/or large cities in European countries have a different status than smaller/middle sized cities and hold more competences. However, there is variation in how these are treated depending on the governance system. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In Croatia, the City of Zagreb has the status of both a city and a county, and holds the competencies of both local and regional authorities. In which case the members of Zagreb city district councils and local committee councils are covered in data for members of local councils, but presidents are not counted in data for mayors/leaders (these are included in the WMID data on regional politics).</li> <li>• In other cases, like Czechia or Austria, the capital city has the status of a region and is therefore not included in the data on local councils (included in the regional politics topic).</li> </ul>
Comparability over time	In the case of local/municipal councils, there are often changes in the number of local administrative divisions (and consequently to the number of local/municipal councils) due to mergers or divisions of municipalities, or reforms in the local governance system. Changes in the number of municipalities in some countries (e.g. Spain, France, and Romania) are frequent and do not have a significant impact on the data. The changes outlined below are considered to have an impact on the comparability of data over time: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ireland: Following the introduction of the Local Government Reform Act 2014, the number of local authorities was reduced from 114 to 31, as 80 town councils were replaced by municipal districts (which are not considered as local authorities) and three city/county councils merged.</li> <li>• Austria: In 2015, a reform in the state of Styria reduced the number of municipalities from 542 to 287, bringing the total number of municipalities in the country from 2,354 down to 2,100.</li> <li>• United Kingdom: The number of local authorities in Northern Ireland was reduced from 26 to 11 after a legal reform in 2014.</li> <li>• Türkiye: Following the implementation of a reform on local government in 2014, the number of municipalities was reduced from just under 3,000 to 1,367. The municipalities with metropolitan status (covered in regional data) are not included in the data on local councils from 2015.</li> <li>• Sweden: In the 2014 elections (covered by 2015 data), the maximum number of councillors per municipality was reduced from 30 to 20 and one municipality had two elected mayors.</li> <li>• Estonia: following the 2017 administrative reform, the number of local authorities were reduced from 213 to 79 (including 64 rural municipalities and 15 cities).</li> <li>• Norway: following the 2014 administrative reform (changes implemented from 2020), the number of local authorities reduced from 428 to 356.</li> <li>• Latvia: following the 2020 administrative reform (changes implemented from 2021 local elections), the number of local authorities reduced from 119 to 43.</li> </ul> Other issues that affect the comparability of data over time are listed below: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Lithuania: the 2015 election results were invalidated in three municipalities due to violation of law. Hence, data for 2015 cover 57 of the 60 municipalities.</li> <li>• Slovakia: 2015 data for mayors exclude municipalities where there were no elections, no candidates, or where candidates received the same number of votes (15 out of 2,926 municipalities). 2015 data for councillors exclude the three municipalities in which elections did not take place.</li> <li>• United Kingdom: 2011 and 2013 data for mayors include directly elected mayors, leaders, and deputy leaders, as data broken down by position were not available. From 2015, data on mayors include only directly elected mayors/leaders of the councils.</li> </ul> It should be noted that the comparability of the EU-27 figure (data aggregated for the 27 EU Member States) over time will be affected by changes to data availability.
Coherence with other datasets	The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of men and women in local councils in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE Statistical Database, but only cover up to 2015. UNECE also collects data on the number of elected women and men in local deliberative bodies, based on national official sources, which is published in the UN Women website Women in Local Government. Sometimes, UNECE data for local councils cover both the administrative level covered in the WMID data on regional assemblies and local/municipal councils. UNECE data are however not disaggregated by level (i.e. municipal and region). In addition, in some cases, data cover a different

	level of local government, either higher or lower level (instead or in addition to the local councils covered in WMID), which might explain differences with the WMID data. UNECE data refer to elected women and men only and may not reflect the current composition of local councils at the time. Moreover, the UNECE dataset does not include disaggregated data for mayors.
Data revision	Data on local councils for previous years may be subject to revisions. This may include cases where results of elections of the reference year are made available after the data collection period, or if the statistical office has published relevant figures. In addition, data may be revised if a response to a request to verify information collected for a particular organisation is received after the data collection has ended and the results were disseminated. If the information leads to a change in the data, then the update is made at the next available opportunity, usually at the latest within one month. The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2017: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Germany: the whole-time series was revised to cover only Gemeinden and Städte (municipalities, towns); previously data referred to Landkreise, Stadtkreise, and Kreisfreie Städte.</li> <li>○ France: 2015 data were updated with final election results (previously data referred to provisional results).</li> <li>○ Cyprus: the whole time series revised to cover communities (Κοινότητες) in addition to municipalities (Δήμοι).</li> <li>○ Austria: data on members for years 2011, 2013, and 2015 (previously not available) were added.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• 2019: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Portugal: 2017 data for councillors were revised to include the mayors.</li> <li>○ Greece: 2019 data for councillors updated in October 2019 to reflect the 2019 election results.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• 2020: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ Spain: 2019 data for mayors and councillors were updated to reflect the situation in September 2019.</li> <li>○ Finland: 2019 data for mayors were revised.</li> <li>○ Albania, Türkiye, and Norway: 2019 data for mayors and councillors were updated to reflect the 2019 election results.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• 2022: 2021 mayors and councillors data for Spain were updated to reflect the situation in September 2021.</li> <li>• 2023: 2015-2022 councillors data for Montenegro were revised to include the mayors.</li> <li>• October 2024: 2021-2024 councillors data for Croatia were revised.</li> <li>• 2025: 2024 councillors data for Bulgaria and mayors and councillors data for Cyprus and Romania were revised to reflect the election results. 2025 mayors data (published in July) for Latvia were updated to reflect elections results provided by contact.</li> </ul>

2.2 Governments and other political executives

2.2.1 European Commission

Organisations covered	The European Commission is the politically independent institution that represents and upholds the interests of the EU as a whole. It is the driving force within the EU's institutional system: it proposes legislation, policies, and programmes of action and is responsible for implementing the decisions of the Parliament and the Council. In legal terms, the European Commission is a college of 27 Commissioners - one from each Member State - chaired by a President, under whose 'political guidance' it shall work.
------------------------------	---

Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President of the Commission (elected by the European Parliament).</li> <li>• Commissioners (count includes the president). There is one Commissioner from each EU Member State.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003. In addition, the dataset includes data collected in 1999 in the context of work undertaken by the Council of the European Union to monitor the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on a quarterly basis, typically as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> <li>• Q4: October/November</li> </ul>
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	There are variations in the number of Commissioners due to changes in EU membership or resignations of Commissioners. The following changes took place: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2004Q2: 10 new Commissioners joined the Commission following the accession of ten countries (Czechia, Estonia, Cyprus, Latvia, Lithuania, Hungary, Malta, Poland, Slovenia and Slovakia), previously composed of 20 Commissioners from the EU-15.</li> <li>• 2004Q4: The number of Commissioners was reduced from 30 to 25 (one per Member State).</li> <li>• 2007Q1: The number of Commissioners increased from 25 to 27 following Bulgaria and Romania joining the EU.</li> <li>• 2012Q4: The College of Commissioners comprised 26 Commissioners temporarily due to the resignation of one member.</li> <li>• 2013Q3: The number of Commissioners increased to 28 as Croatia joined the EU.</li> <li>• 2019Q4: The number of Commissioners dropped to 27 with departure of the United Kingdom from the EU.</li> </ul>
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of European Commissioners by gender over time.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from the official website.
Mapping tables	None.

2.2.2 National governments

Organisations covered	The national government is the executive body with authority to govern a country or state.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: elected head of state (where relevant)</li> <li>• Prime minister: head of the government. In some countries, alternative names are used (e.g. Chancellor).</li> <li>• Ministers: a minister or a secretary who are members of the government. Senior ministers are members of the government who have a seat on the Cabinet or Council of Ministers (count includes prime minister). The Cabinet is defined as a body of high-ranking members of government, typically representing the executive branch and formed of senior ministers. It may also be referred to as an Executive Council or an Executive Committee. Junior ministers are members of the government who do not have a seat on the cabinet. In some countries state-secretaries (or the national equivalent) are considered as junior ministers within the government (with no seat in the cabinet) but in other countries they are not considered as members of the government.</li> </ul>

	Notes: Data for government ministers are available broken down by the BEIS typology of the functions of government (Basic, Economy, Infrastructure, and Socio-cultural). In the case that a minister has responsibility for multiple functions which cross BEIS types then it is categorised according to the type of the first function in its name.
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003 (for 26 countries) and then on a quarterly basis from the 2nd quarter of 2004 (the only gap in the series is the 3rd quarter of 2007). The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Lithuania: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Malta: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Poland: 2004Q4</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005Q4</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007Q1</li> <li>• North Macedonia: 2008Q1</li> <li>• Serbia: 2008Q1</li> <li>• Montenegro: 2015Q1</li> <li>• Albania: 2018Q3</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018Q3</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2018Q3</li> </ul> Data for the United Kingdom were collected up to 2024Q4.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on a quarterly basis, typically as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> <li>• Q4: October/November</li> </ul> In 2022-2023 data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were collected annually (October/November). The 2025Q4 data for IPA beneficiaries were collected in December.
Completeness	Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024, 2025Q1-2025Q3, and 2026Q1.
Accuracy	For the following cases, the government had resigned and/or not formed at the time of data collection hence data from the last period were used: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2018Q1 and Q2 data refer to 2017Q4.</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018Q4 data refer to 2018Q3.</li> <li>• Finland: 2019Q2 data refer to 2019Q1.</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2020Q2 data refer to 2020Q1.</li> <li>• Romania: 2023Q4 refer to 2023Q3.</li> </ul> Apart from these points, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The major difference between countries is that, in some countries, the concept of government refers only to the cabinet (senior ministers) whilst in others the concept is wider and includes junior ministers. Data are broken down by level of seniority to take this difference into account. Apart from this point, data are fully comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There are frequent changes in the size of government due to elections or reshuffles, affecting the numbers of ministers. Moreover, for cases where junior minister position is applicable, the government may decide not to appoint any junior ministers. This has been the case for Belgium (2019Q1-2020Q3 and since 2025Q1) as well as Luxembourg (2008Q3-2013Q4 and since 2019Q1). In addition, there can also be variations in terms of which positions are considered (at national level)

	to be part of the “government”, primarily at junior level. The advice of national representatives is always sought before making any change in this respect. The changes below impact on the time-series for junior ministers: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Greece: From 2015Q4, state secretaries were added to the count of junior ministers (previously only deputy ministers were counted).</li> <li>• Cyprus: No junior ministers counted from 2009Q4 (previously permanent secretaries, deputy minister to the president, and the government spokesman were covered).</li> <li>• Hungary: No junior ministers counted from 2009Q4 (previously, senior state secretaries were covered).</li> <li>• Serbia: No junior ministers counted from 2008Q4, previously state secretaries, secretary general, and assistant ministers were covered.</li> </ul>
Coherence with other datasets	In the case of national governments, the United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of men and women ministers in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE Statistical Database. Data are also collected and published separately for core ministers, which include Cabinet of Prime Minister, Ministry of Home Affairs, Ministry for Foreign Affairs, Ministry of Finance, Ministry of Defence, Ministry of Justice (UNECE — Core ministers by sex). However, UNECE data are compiled annually and not quarterly, and in some cases, do not reflect the current government composition, which might explain differences with the WMID data. In addition, only senior ministers are counted and data on junior ministers and presidents (where relevant) are not collected.
Data revision	The following revisions were made in the specified period: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2018Q2: 2015Q1-2017Q4 data revised for junior ministers in Bulgaria.</li> <li>• 2018Q3: 2018Q1 and Q2 data for senior ministers and 2017Q4-2018Q2 data for junior ministers in Norway revised.</li> <li>• 2018Q4: 2018Q3 data for senior ministers in Italy revised.</li> <li>• 2019Q2: Junior ministers data for Spain for periods 2018Q3-2019Q1, and 2019Q1 for Belgium, Portugal, Slovakia and Latvia, as well as 2019Q1 data for senior ministers in Malta revised.</li> <li>• 2019Q4: 2019Q3 data for junior ministers in Finland, the UK and North Macedonia as well as senior ministers data for Montenegro revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q1: data for junior ministers in Bulgaria (for periods 2019Q2-2019Q4) and Portugal (2019Q4) were revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q2: 2020Q1 data for Prime Minister and senior ministers in Finland and junior ministers in Poland revised.</li> <li>• 2020Q4: 2020Q3 data for junior ministers in Bulgaria and senior ministers in France revised.</li> <li>• 2021Q2: 2021Q1 data for junior ministers in Spain revised.</li> <li>• 2022Q1: 2021Q4 data for president in Estonia and prime minister in Norway and junior ministers in Slovakia revised.</li> <li>• 2023Q4: 2023Q2-2023Q3 data for senior ministers in Estonia were revised.</li> <li>• 2024Q3: 2024Q2 data for senior and junior ministers in Bulgaria, senior ministers in Cyprus, and junior ministers in Latvia were revised.</li> <li>• 2025Q3: 2024Q2-2025Q2 data for senior and junior ministers in Norway and 2025Q1-2025Q2 data for junior ministers in Bulgaria were revised.</li> </ul>

2.2.3 Regional executives

Organisations covered	Regional executives are defined as a person or a body exercising executive functions on behalf of a region (regional authority) where these are not exercised by the representative body. The term “region” refers to regional, territorial, authorities that are endowed with self-government, between the central government and local authorities. This does not necessarily imply a hierarchical relationship between regional and local authorities. Regional self-government denotes the legal competence and the ability of regional authorities, within the limits of the constitution and the law, to regulate and manage a share of public affairs under their own responsibility, in the interests of the regional population and in accordance with the principle of subsidiarity.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President</li> <li>• Members (count includes the president)</li> </ul>
Reference area	Currently, there are no regional authorities in 13 () of the 37 countries covered in the WMID data. Thus, only 23 countries are covered. () BG, EE, IE, CY, LT, LU, MT, SI, ME, MK, XK, IS, LI
Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2003 for 20 countries, where applicable. Since then, data have been collected on an annual basis and updated quarterly in case of regional elections. The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004</li> <li>• Denmark: 2004</li> <li>• Greece: 2004</li> <li>• France: 2004</li> <li>• Latvia: 2004</li> <li>• Poland: 2004</li> <li>• Slovakia: 2004</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007</li> <li>• Serbia: 2008</li> <li>• Albania: 2018</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> </ul>
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis in the last quarter of the year, generally between October and November. In addition, data are updated quarterly where there have been regional elections. In such cases, typically, data are collected as follows: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Q1: February/March</li> <li>• Q2: May</li> <li>• Q3: July/August</li> </ul> In 2022-2023 data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) are not updated quarterly in case of regional elections (only collected annually, between October and November). The 2025 data for IPA beneficiaries were collected in December.
Completeness	Data are generally complete but there are gaps due to data availability in some years. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024.
Accuracy	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Spain (Catalunya): 2017 data refer to 2016 as the regional government and parliament were suspended from October 2017-June 2018.</li> <li>• United Kingdom (Northern Ireland): 2017-2019 data refer to 2016 as the devolved government resigned in January 2017 and not re-formed until January 2020.</li> </ul> Apart from these points, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.

Comparability across countries	Regions refer to the regional authorities between the level of national and local government (though hierarchical control is not implied) which are endowed with self-government and are therefore not applicable in all countries. Currently 13 () of the 37 countries covered in the WMID data do not have regions following this definition. In addition, the heterogeneity of national systems implies that there are differences in the competences, power, financial resources, and average size of regional authorities across the countries covered in the database. () BG, EE, IE, CY, LT, LU, MT, SI, ME, MK, XK, IS, LI
Comparability over time	The number of regions covered across years may vary due to changes in administrative landscaping (i.e., mergers or divisions of existing regions), reforms in the regional governance system, or methodological revisions. These changes have an impact on the comparability of data over time. See 2.1.4 for details on changes in number of regions covered. In addition, data for executives in Greece cover unpaid deputy governors in all cases (where relevant) from 2025. This may have caused a minor break in series for cases where these were not systematically included in the count previously.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in regional governments over time.
Data revision	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: 2014 and 2015 data on Mayotte for France were added.</li> <li>• 2025: 2024 data for Czechia (Olomoucky) and Poland (Mazowieckie) were revised.</li> </ul>

2.3 Political parties

2.3.1 Major political parties

Organisations covered	Major political parties are defined as political parties with at least 5 % of seats in the national parliament (either of the upper or lower houses in case of a bicameral system) at the time of observation (i.e. beginning of the data collection). A political party is defined as an organised group of people with some common political aims and opinions that seek to influence public policy, usually by trying to get candidates elected to public office. Independents and coalitions are not included in the database. Coalitions are formal or informal groups of political parties. Only their constituent members (parties) are covered and treated individually.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Leader(s)</li> <li>• Deputy leader(s)</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• If the party is not headed by a leader or a president as such but by a group of persons, then the chair of the committee/group/board is considered as the leader of the party and the deputy chair as the deputy leader of the party.</li> <li>• In case of two or more vice-presidents/leaders, the first person(s) to be called in the absence of the leader is (are) taken into account (usually this is one out of two or three but may also be two/three out of more). Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2011 for 34 countries. The geographic coverage has expanded through time. For Montenegro, the time series starts in 2015 whilst for Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina and Kosovo, the time series starts in 2018.
Frequency of data collection	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in April/May up to 2024 and in March/April from

and reference period	2025.
Completeness	2023 data for deputy leader(s) was not available for one political party in Bulgaria, one party in Bosnia and Herzegovina, and two parties in Latvia. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected 2024-2026.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Political parties with less than 5 % representation in national parliaments (either lower or upper house in case of bicameral systems) or with no elected representatives are excluded. This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of political parties in each country, but rather it presents the situation in parties with a real influence at the national level.
Comparability across countries	There are differences in the number of political parties covered by country (generally 2-10). Apart from this point, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There are often changes in the list (and number) of political parties covered per country in each data collection, which is updated before each data collection. This is due to the fact that the representation of political parties in national parliaments may change and only those holding at least 5 % of the parliamentary seats (either in the upper or lower house in case of bicameral system) at the time of observation (i.e. at the beginning of data collection) are covered. This may have an impact on figures at the national level, particularly where there is only a small number of major political parties. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men as leaders and deputy leaders in major political parties over time.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2019: 2018 data for deputy leaders in Hungary, Serbia, Liechtenstein, and Iceland (one party in each country) revised.</li> <li>• 2020: 2019 data for deputy leaders of a political party in Bosnia and Herzegovina revised.</li> </ul>

2.4 Advisory Committees

2.4.1 European committees

Organisations covered	Data cover the two representative committees at European level that are consulted by the European Parliament, the Council, and the Commission on relevant policy issues and thus have a key role in the Union’s decision-making process (as defined in Chapter 3, of the Treaty of Lisbon, “the Union’s advisory bodies”). These are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The European Economic and Social Committee (EESC) represents the various economic and social components of organised civil society. Its members are representatives of organisations of employers, of the workers, and of other parties representative of civil society, notably in socio-economic, civic, professional and cultural areas. They are nominated by national governments and appointed by the Council of the European Union. The number of members per country is in proportion to the country’s population.</li> <li>• The Committee of the Regions (CoR) is the political assembly representing local and regional authorities at the European level. Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in the 3 rd quarter of 2003 with the exception of the European Economic and Social Committee, for which routine data collection started in 2005. The dataset also includes data for the European institutions collected in 1999 in the context of work undertaken by the Council of the European Union to monitor the implementation of the Beijing Platform for Action.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between June and September.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.

Comparability over time	In the case of European institutions, there are changes in the administrative grades (internal reform within EU institutions) and changes in the number of members of some organisations linked to changes in EU membership over time. For European Parliament, between 2003 and 2013, data covered advisors and principal advisors. The positions were abolished in 2014 due to internal reorganisation. In addition, some changes were applied following a methodological revision in 2023: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• European Commission: Principal advisors (Level 2) and hors advisors (Level 2) are excluded from 2023 onwards.</li> <li>• Council of the EU: Secretary General included in the count for Level 1 from 2023 onwards.</li> <li>• European Parliament: Secretary-General included in Level 1 from 2020 onwards.</li> </ul> Apart from these points, data are comparable over time. In the case of European Committees, data can be considered comparable over time. For European agencies, there are changes through time in the list and number of agencies covered as agencies are created or disbanded. The list of agencies covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection from the official Commission source (https://europa.eu/european-union/about-eu/agencies_en). In addition, there is a break in the series for the European Training Foundation (ETF). From 2018, all three representatives of the European Commission are counted as members of the highest decision-making body (the Governing Board), as the vote is shared amongst them. Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men senior administrators at European level over time.
Data revision	In the case of European institutions, the following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2023: Level 1 and Level 2 data for European Parliament for periods 2020-2022 were revised.</li> </ul> In the case of European agencies, the following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: 2015 data updated to include the Single Resolution Board (SRB).</li> <li>• 2020: 2019 data revised for members of the European Training Foundation (ETF).</li> <li>• 2023: 2018-2022 data revised for members of the Single Resolution Board (SRB).</li> <li>• Nov 2025: 2022-2025 data revised for members of the European Defence Agency (EDA) and 2025 data for members of the European Maritime Safety Agency (EMSA).</li> </ul>

3.2 Senior administrators at national level

3.2.1 National administrations

Organisations covered	Data on national administrations cover the departments of a national government, led by a minister. Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The names of the positions covered vary between countries and sometimes between ministries in the same country. In addition, there are differences in national administrative systems. For example, level 1 and level 2 in administrators correspond to different functions from a country to another and also between ministries within a country. Fixing “level 1” to refer to the first level below the political positions can result in big differences between countries where only the minister is counted as political and others where two or more tiers are considered political. This is visible for instance in the high differences in the average number of administrators covered by country. Depending on the institutional organisation in the country, this difference may be exacerbated further at the next level (level 2).

	The data are broken down by BEIS typology (functions within government), and mapping tables with a list of positions covered at each level are published so that this difference can be taken into account. Apart from these points, the data are fully comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The number of ministries covered may vary over time due to organisational changes. The list of ministries is updated at the beginning of each data collection. In addition, in 2009 the methodology was revised to provide clearer definitions of level 1 and level 2 administrators. This revision affects data for Estonia, Spain, Italy, Lithuania, the Netherlands, Poland, Portugal, Romania, and Finland. Subsequently, the following country- specific revisions of coverage were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2010: Ireland (Level 2) and Spain (Level 2).</li> <li>• 2012: Romania (Level 2) and Croatia (Level 1).</li> <li>• 2014: Spain and Slovakia (both levels).</li> <li>• 2017: Croatia (both levels) and Malta (Level 2).</li> <li>• 2018: Türkiye (both levels following administrative reform).</li> <li>• 2019: Lithuania Level 2 (one more position added).</li> <li>• 2021: Slovakia Level 1 (two positions added and one changed name) and Level 2 (one new position added).</li> </ul>
Coherence with other datasets	The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of men and women senior civil servants in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE Statistical Database. UNECE data were collected every 5 years between 1980 and 2000, and annually thereafter until 2020. Data are however incomplete, with some countries for which data are available for few years only. In addition, UNECE data cover senior level civil servants as defined according to ISCO-08, code 1112, which includes a wider range of positions and officials (e.g. government administrators, administrators at intergovernmental organisations, ambassadors, consul-general, etc.); thus coverage does not correspond to the senior administrators as defined in the WMID (which limits coverage to administrators in national ministries). In addition, UNECE data do not distinguish between levels of seniority (level 1 and level 2). There is therefore no direct correspondence between the datasets.
Data revision	For some countries, data for the reference period are provided later than the data collection dates. Data for the effected years are revised accordingly. The following revisions have been made in: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2009: 2008 data revised for both levels in Slovenia.</li> <li>• 2014: 2010-2013 data revised for both levels in Sweden.</li> <li>• 2016: 2015 data revised for both levels in Norway.</li> <li>• 2017: 2016 data for both levels in Slovakia and Norway and level 2 data in Denmark revised.</li> <li>• 2018: 2017 data revised for both levels in Belgium.</li> <li>• 2019: revised 2018 data for level 2 in France and 2017 data for both levels in Norway.</li> <li>• 2020: 2019 data revised for both levels in Czechia and Sweden and level 1 in Germany.</li> <li>• 2021: 2020 data revised for level 2 in Luxembourg and both levels in Albania.</li> <li>• 2023: 2022 data for level 1 in Spain, both levels in Romania and level 2 in Bosnia and Herzegovina were revised.</li> </ul>

Comparability over time	There are changes in the number of members of the European Court of Auditors over time due to changes in EU membership. Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the gender of the European Ombudsman over time. The European Court of Auditors has published a file with historical composition of members of the European Court of Auditors since 1977 in its website, and in October 2022 the European Parliament produced a briefing on Gender Equality in the college of the European Court of Auditors which looks at the cumulative number of women and men in the European Court of Auditors sent by each country. Neither case, however, has an accompanying dataset that compiles the number of women and men members of European Court of Auditors over time.

4.1 European courts

4.1.1 Court of Justice the European Union and European Court of Human Rights

Organisations covered	The Court of Justice of the European Union (CJEU) consists of two courts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The Court of Justice: the highest court in the European Union in matters of EU laws. The Court of Justice ensures that EU legislation is interpreted and applied in the same way in each Member State. The Court has competence, among other things, to rule on applications for annulment or actions for failure to act brought by a Member State or an institution, actions against Member States for failure to fulfil obligations, references for a preliminary ruling and appeals against decisions of the General Court.</li> <li>• The General Court (formerly known as the European Court of First Instance): attached to the Court of Justice, the General Court has jurisdiction to hear and determine at first instance all direct actions brought by individuals and the Member States, with the exception of those to be assigned to a 'judicial panel' and those reserved for the Court of Justice. Since September 2016, the General Court also has jurisdiction to rule on civil service actions following the termination of the Civil Service Tribunal.</li> </ul> Other European courts: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The European Court of Human Rights: is an institution of the Council of Europe, which has 47 member states, and monitors compliance with the European Convention on Human Rights. The European Court of Human Rights hears cases of possible human rights violations brought by individuals, organisations and states against the countries bound by the Convention.</li> </ul> Note: Data also cover the Civil Service Tribunal as a separate entity for the period 2007-2016. The Tribunal was established in 2005 and had jurisdiction to determine disputes between the EU and its employees. It was dissolved in 2016 as its jurisdiction was transferred to the General Court.

Comparability over time	The number of judges in EU courts changed over time following changes in EU membership as well as structural changes. In cases where the supreme court takes responsibility for administrative jurisdiction, it is covered only in that section.</li> <li>• Constitutional courts: the legal body responsible for ensuring the compatibility of legislation with the provisions and principles of the constitution in each country, in particular to protect constitutionally established rights and freedoms. In cases where the supreme court takes responsibility for constitutional jurisdiction, it is covered only in that section. Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between May and September.
Completeness	Data are generally complete from 2006 but there are gaps in the period 2003-2006. Countries where data are not available are listed below by type of court and period. Note that administrative and constitutional courts are not applicable in all countries therefore the lists below exclude these cases. Data are not available for the supreme court for the following countries: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2003: Bulgaria, Greece, Liechtenstein</li> <li>• 2004-2005: Malta, Liechtenstein</li> <li>• 2006: Italy, Liechtenstein</li> </ul> Data are not available for the constitutional court for the following countries: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2003: Luxembourg</li> <li>• 2004: Luxembourg, Malta</li> <li>• 2005: Malta</li> </ul> Data are not available for the administrative court for the following countries: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2003: Greece, Italy, Romania, Slovenia</li> <li>• 2004-2006: Romania</li> </ul> Data are not available for the public prosecutor for the following countries: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2003: Ireland, Greece, Spain, Latvia, Slovenia, Slovakia, Iceland</li> <li>• 2004: Italy, Iceland</li> <li>• 2005: Iceland</li> <li>• 2006: Italy, Hungary, Iceland</li> </ul> Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.

Sampling error	Not applicable.

Comparability across countries	The main difference between countries is that administrative and constitutional courts do not exist in all countries, or its competences are carried out by the supreme court. In cases where the supreme court takes the responsibility for either court, it is covered only in the supreme courts section. The number of public prosecutors varies by country as in some cases the role is shared amongst a board of general prosecutors (Belgium and the Netherlands) or with the Attorney General (Austria). Apart from these points, the data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There are often changes in the number of supreme court judges and therefore the number of members counted in each data collection may differ. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of members of constitutional courts by sex, as well as on the numbers of judges by sex, in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE Statistical Database. However, data for members of constitutional courts a breakdown for presidents (EIGE dataset covers only presidents), and data for judges cover all judges without a breakdown by type of court (e.g. supreme, administrative or constitutional). The European Commission for the Efficiency of Justice (CEPEJ) collects data on number of women and men public prosecutors, and judges and presidents in supreme courts in Council of Europe Member States via a network of national correspondents. Data are collected on a biannual basis and published with a two-year time lag in the interactive database CEPEJ-STAT. There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in administrative courts over time.
Data revision	After clarifications received and data review, the following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: 2015 data for administrative court in Montenegro were added.</li> <li>• 2017: 2007-2016 data for the supreme court in Malta were revised.</li> <li>• 2018: 2017 data for the constitutional court in Montenegro were revised. Also, 2016 and 2017 data for the supreme court in Türkiye were revised (prior to this, data referred to 2015 as no up-to-date information was available).</li> <li>• 2020: 2018 and 2019 data for the administrative court in Croatia were revised.</li> </ul>

5. Business and finance

5.1 Business

5.1.1 Largest listed companies

Organisations covered	Largest listed companies: the largest publicly listed companies in each country. Publicly listed means that the shares of the company are traded on the stock exchange. The “largest” companies are taken to be the members (max.50) of the primary blue-chip index, which is an index maintained by the stock exchange covering the largest companies by market capitalisation and/or market trades. Only companies which are registered in the country concerned (according to the ISIN code) are counted. Therefore, the number of companies covered by the data (which is shown in the table of data) may be lower than the number of constituents in the relevant blue-chip index. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• There are two main stock exchanges in Bosnia and Herzegovina: Sarajevo Stock Exchange (SASE) and Banja Luka Stock Exchange (BLSE). The BTAX index (managed by Vienna Stock Exchange) includes 6 companies with largest market capitalisation and liquidity selected from the main index of SASE (SASX-10) and BLSE (BIRS). WMID data covers BTAX (6 constituents) and 4 other companies with highest market capitalisation selected from the combined list of SASX-10 and BIRS.</li> <li>• Non-national companies (i.e. those registered in another country according to the ISIN code) are excluded so that the data for each country cover only the companies registered in that country.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	Board members: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the highest decision-making body in each company.</li> <li>• Board members: data cover all members of the highest decision-making body in each company (i.e. chairperson, non-executive directors, senior executives and employee representatives, where present).</li> </ul> Executives and non-executives: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Executives: senior executives in the two highest decision-making bodies in each company.</li> <li>• Non-executives: non-executive members of the two highest decision-making bodies in each company. Employee representatives participating in the highest decision-making board are included in the count of non-executive members.</li> <li>• CEOs: Chief Executive Officer or equivalent position.</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from each company statutes. in line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, the Annual General Meeting is not counted as the highest decision-making body, and coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations.</li> <li>• The highest decision-making body is usually termed the supervisory board (in case of a two-tier governance system) or the board of directors (in a unitary system). The two highest decision-making bodies are usually referred to as the supervisory board and the management board (in case of a two-tier governance system) and the board of directors and executive/management committee (in a unitary system).</li> <li>• Any individual who sits in both decision-making bodies of a particular company is counted only once.</li> </ul>
Reference area	There is no stock exchange in Liechtenstein and Kosovo, and the Albanian Stock exchange has no listed companies. Therefore, data on largest listed companies are collected for the remaining countries covered by the WMID data. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.

Time coverage	Data on board members of largest listed companies were first collected in 2003B2 (for 25 countries). Data for CEOs, executive and non-executive members were first collected in 2012B2 (for 33 countries). The geographic coverage of the database has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004B2</li> <li>• Malta: 2004B2</li> <li>• Poland: 2004B2</li> <li>• Lithuania: 2005B2</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005B2</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007B2</li> <li>• North Macedonia: 2008B2</li> <li>• Serbia: 2008B2</li> <li>• Montenegro: 2015B1</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018B2</li> </ul> Data for the United Kingdom were collected up to 2024.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data on board members of largest listed companies were collected annually up to 2011, generally between September and December. Since 2012, data for all positions are collected on a biannual basis, typically in April (B1) and October (B2). In 2022-2023, data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate were collected annually (October).
Completeness	Data are mostly complete from 2008. Companies are contacted where publicly available information is not sufficient to ensure completeness of data. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.
Accuracy	Data for individual companies are mostly sourced from company websites but when information is not available it is sought from stock exchange sites or through contacts by email. Sometimes data on the decision-making positions are not readily available and have to be retrieved from annual reports, which may not be up-to-date. Apart from this point, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Data cover only publicly listed companies that fulfil the selection criteria i.e. national companies which are constituents of blue-chip indices (see section 0 for more details). This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of publicly listed companies in each country, but rather it presents the situation in companies with the most economic influence at national level.
Comparability across countries	The differences in corporate governance systems in place across and within countries should be considered. The count of executives is not always exactly comparable between countries i.e. in a two-tier governance model, the second tier is usually made up of executives while in a unitary system, where possible, executives are counted from the most senior nominated executive body. See below the list of countries by the governance system generally found. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• One-tier: IE, EL, ES, IT, CY, LU, MT, FI, SE, ME, TR, IS, NO</li> <li>• Two-tier: CZ, DK, DE, EE, HR, LV, AT, PL, SK, BA</li> <li>• Mixed: BE, BG, FR, LT, HU, NL, PT, RO, SI, MK, RS</li> </ul> Moreover, the coverage of companies is not exactly comparable for every country as the number of companies is neither the same for all countries nor strictly proportional to the country size. The constituents of the blue-chip index of the national stock exchange in each country are covered (max. 50). In cases where the blue-chip index does not cover enough companies (i.e. less than 10), companies with the next largest market capitalisation are taken into account when possible to have a sample of at least 10 companies in each country. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The number of companies covered in the following countries did not reach the minimum sample of 10 as a smaller number of companies were listed and active in the stock exchange:</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>○ SK: 7 companies covered in 2022B1-B2, 8 in 2023B1, 7 in 2023B2, 9 in 2024B1, 8 in 2024B2, 7 in 2025B1-2025H2.</li> <li>○ LV: 8 companies covered in 2023B2-2024B1, 7 in 2024B2-2025B1, 8 in 2025B2, 7 in 2026B1.</li> <li>○ RS: 9 companies covered in 2023B2 and 2026B1.</li> </ul>
Comparability over time	Comparability over time is affected by three types of changes in the companies covered: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Methodological reviews: From 2003-2006 the database covered the 50 largest listed companies in each country. In 2007, the approach was changed to focus only on companies that are constituents of the main blue-chip index in each country. This change was implemented to avoid giving undue weight to companies that were actually relatively small, particularly in smaller countries where relatively few companies are listed. The methodology was also changed to ensure that only nationally registered companies were taken into account – previously companies with dual listings could be counted in both countries. In practice, the change may have caused some minor effect on the time-series at national level (particularly for countries with small sample size) but the aggregate EU level figure is considered to be consistent despite the reduced sample. From 2008, the rule of a minimum of 10 companies per country was applied to reduce discrepancies due to sample size. From April 2024, for companies with a co-CEO system, all are counted. Previously, only one individual was counted for these cases, favouring the woman co-CEO. In practice, this has a minor impact at the national level and the EU level figure given the small number of cases.</li> <li>• Regular update: For each data collection period, the list of constituents of the blue-chip index is taken from the appropriate national stock exchange at the start of the collection (the frequency with which indices are revised varies between countries). It should be noted that changes in the composition of blue-chip index may have an impact on figures at the national level, particularly in countries where the index has a small number of components.</li> <li>• Changes in the primary blue-chip index: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Denmark: from April 2018, the main blue-chip index changed from OMX Copenhagen 20 to OMX Copenhagen 25, increasing the number of constituents from 20 to 25.</li> <li>• Germany: from October 2021, the main blue-chip index rebranded from DAX30 to DAX40, increasing the number of constituents from 30 to 40.</li> <li>• Greece: from April 2013, the main blue-chip index changed from FTSE/ASE 20 to FTSE/ASE 25, increasing the number of constituents from 20 to 25.</li> <li>• Romania: from October 2014, the main blue-chip index changed from ROTX to BET. The number of constituents remain the same, but it should be noted that the composition may vary over time.</li> <li>• Slovenia: the following indices are covered in the specified periods: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2007-2009: SBI20 (20 constituents)</li> <li>• 2010-2011: LJSE70 (top 20 companies with highest market capitalisation)</li> <li>• From 2012: SBITOP + other companies with highest market capitalisation (total of 20 companies covered).</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Iceland: the following indices are covered in the specified periods: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2007-2008: OMX Iceland 15 (15 constituents)</li> <li>• 2009-2013: OMX Iceland 6 + 4 companies with largest market capitalisation (10 constituents)</li> <li>• From April 2014: OMX Iceland All-Shared (OMXIGI), increasing the number of constituents (varies over time).</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Türkiye: following consultation with contacts from the stock exchange, in 2019B2, the main blue-chip index was changed from BIST 50 to BIST 30; this index covers the list of companies with the largest market capitalisation and trade value.</li> </ul> </li> </ul> In addition, in 2016, as a result of a methodological review process, the bodies covered for some of companies in Hungary were modified, so that the board of directors was taken as the highest decision-making body (previously, some companies had supervisory bodies, but this was deemed to be a body with no full decision-making powers after the whole assessment). The review also looked at other elements such as positions counted as senior executives (e.g. secretaries of boards), which resulted in minor changes.
Coherence with other datasets	Since 2019, the association European Women on Boards collects data on the number of women and men on leadership positions in largest companies in the EU based on publicly available sources. Data are collected annually and published as part of Gender Diversity Index reports. Thus, the raw

	data or dataset is not publicly available. In addition, data cover all companies listed in the STOXX Europe 600 index plus some additional companies in national stock exchanges. The coverage does not ensure a minimum number of companies in each country, and there is no data for some EU Member States or countries covered under the EIGE dataset. The latest (2021) data cover companies in only 19 European countries. As part of the follow-up and review of the 2030 Agenda for Sustainable Development, the United Nations compiles data on women and men in managerial positions from national sources (Indicator 5.5.2: Proportion of women in managerial positions). Data are published in the Sustainable Development Goals Database. The positions covered are based on the categories of the International Standard Classification of Occupations (ISCO-08) and cover senior and middle management (sub-major groups 11, 12 and 13 in ISCO-08 and sub-major groups 11 and 12 in ISCO-88) and are thus not comparable with the WMID dataset.

5.2.2 Central banks

Organisations covered	Central banks are the entities responsible for overseeing the monetary system for a country (or group of member states). The central banks oversee monetary policy, and work towards specific goals such as currency stability, low inflation and full employment as well as issue currency, function as the bank of the government, regulate the credit system, oversee commercial banks, manage exchange reserves and act as a lender of last resort.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Governor</li> <li>• Deputy/Vice-governors</li> <li>• Members of all key decision-making bodies (count includes the governor)</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The decision-making bodies within central banks are those (groups of individuals) which are formally constituted within the statutes of the bank and which have the power to take decisions, without referral to a higher authority, that set or influence national policy, determine the policy/strategy of the bank or the framework within which it operates (statutes), or control the overall function of the organisation (day-to-day management/ administration). This means that multiple decision-making bodies (excluding those which are primarily responsible for monitoring i.e. audit committee or the advisory board) may be taken into account for some countries.</li> <li>• The Governor is included in the count of members of decision-making bodies unless he/ she is not a voting member of the bodies counted.</li> <li>• Persons who belong to more than one body are counted only once.</li> </ul>
Reference area	There is no central bank in Liechtenstein (the Swiss National Bank serves as the national bank of the country); data on central banks are thus collected for 36 countries covered by the WMID data. Data for the United Kingdom were collected up to 2024Q4.
Time coverage	Data on the governors and members of the central banks were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003 (for 25 countries) while data for deputy/vice-governors are available from 2007. The geographic coverage of the database has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Czechia: 2004</li> <li>• Lithuania: 2004</li> <li>• Malta: 2004</li> <li>• Poland: 2004</li> <li>• Türkiye: 2005</li> <li>• Croatia: 2007</li> <li>• North Macedonia: 2008</li> <li>• Serbia: 2008</li> <li>• Montenegro: 2015</li> <li>• Albania: 2018</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2018</li> </ul>
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between May and September.
Completeness	Data are complete. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The organisational structure varies between countries and there are often several decision-making bodies, with distinct functions and differences in the decision-making powers. In some cases, for example, the board of directors may be the main decision-making body of the central bank in terms of general policy, administration and management, but the board of governors has sole responsibility for monetary policy. In other cases, a supervisory board technically holds the supreme power within the bank structure but may in fact have little impact in terms of decision-making, serving mainly to supervise the activities of the body/bodies responsible for policy and general management.

Comparability over time	In the period 2003-2007, only one body (the “highest” decision-making body) was covered. Following a methodological review in 2008, data were collected for multiple bodies in order to include all positions with decision-making power and obtain a more uniform coverage. Data can be considered fully comparable over time from 2008. Occasionally, there are changes in the governance systems of the bank, affecting the highest decision-making bodies covered over time: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Latvia: two highest decision-making bodies (Board and Council) covered from 2008 to 2020. In 2021, the bank changed from a two-tier system to one-tier management model and thus, only the Council is covered from 2021.</li> </ul>
Coherence with other datasets	The United Nations Economic Commission for Europe (UNECE) compiles data on the numbers of men and women members of boards in central banks in Europe from official national sources. Data are published in the UNECE statistical database, but there is no breakdown by president. There may be differences in the decision-making body covered. A full review of the coherence between EIGE and UNECE datasets is due in 2023.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2017: following a review of the highest decision-making bodies covered, data for years 2011-2016 for Ireland, and 2009-2016 for Iceland were revised.</li> <li>• 2019: 2018 data for members in Bosnia and Herzegovina were revised.</li> <li>• 2024: 2023 data for deputy/vice-governors in Slovenia were revised.</li> <li>• December 2024: 2024 data for deputy/vice-governor in Austria were revised.</li> <li>• December 2025: 2025 data for governor in Spain was revised.</li> </ul>

Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	It should be noted that for some organisations the decision-making body covered may not be consistent through time – in some cases because the organisation has changed its way of working, in others because the body covered has changed as the methodology has been improved. The list of European social partner organisations covered may also change over time due to changes in the landscape of the social dialogue (e.g. mergers of organisations, new organisations created, etc.). The list is updated before each data collection. Since 2007, in cases where the head of the highest decision-making body and the daily executive head are the same person, he/she is counted in both positions and if there is no separate executive head position, then the president is counted instead.

	Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in European social partner organisations.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: data for period 2007-2015 were revised to record the president of the highest decision-making body as the executive head in cases where there was no separate executive head. ## 6.1.2 National social partner organisations

Organisations covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Social partner organisations are labour and employer's confederations, federations or other bodies forming the two sides of social dialogue. Social dialogue can be discussions, consultations, negotiations and joint actions and can take different forms: bipartite (involving representatives of workers and employers) or tripartite (also associating public authorities and/or representatives of civil society, NGOs, etc.); take place at various levels: company, sectoral/cross-sectoral and local/ regional/national/transnational; and at the international level, be bilateral, trilateral or multilateral, according to the number of countries involved.</li> <li>• Data cover labour and employer's confederations, federations or other bodies that have a national scope, are not affiliated to any other higher-level organisation at national level and are either involved regularly in cross-industry collective bargaining or employment regulation; or that are involved in bipartite/tripartite consultations on cross-industry labour market and industrial relations issues. The social partner organisations covered represent more than one economic sector or a category of enterprises or organisations across the economy or a category of employees across the economy.</li> <li>• Data also cover regional organisations that are involved in national cross-industry tripartite and/or bipartite arrangements; organisations affiliated to higher-level bodies, but which participate in their own right in national cross-industry tripartite and/or bipartite arrangements; and essential single-sector organisations that play a clear role in national cross-industry tripartite and/or bipartite arrangements.</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Chambers of commerce, industry and services involved in collective bargaining or have other clear industrial relations role, are included in the data.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: highest governing position or chairperson of the highest decision-making body. For organisations that do not have a president, the secretary general is counted instead.</li> <li>• Deputy/Vice-presidents: deputy of the person holding the highest governing position. For organisations that do not have a president and deputy/vice-presidents, deputy/vice- secretary general(s) is counted instead.</li> <li>• Members: members of the highest decision-making body (count includes, where present, the president(s), vice-president(s) and executive head(s)). The counting includes only members with full voting rights.</li> <li>• Executive head: highest executive position or head of the highest executive body. Usually referred to as either the secretary general or managing director. For organisations that do not have a separate executive position, the president is counted instead.</li> </ul> Notes:

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation's statutes or similar document. In line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, bodies such as the general congress or general assembly are not counted as the highest decision-making body. Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in the 4th quarter of 2014 for 34 countries and 2014 data for Montenegro were added at the beginning of 2016. The geographic coverage of the database has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Albania: 2018</li> <li>Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> <li>Kosovo: 2018</li> </ul>
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on a biennial basis (every two years), typically between August and November.
Completeness	Data are generally complete but there are some gaps as some of the organisations covered do not have an official website or contact details.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate, although in some cases data are retrieved from annual reports (which may not be up-to-date) and most recent decision documents available. Organisations are contacted directly when publicly available information is not sufficient or if further clarification is needed.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The main difference between countries is the diversity in the structure of the social dialogue and in the structure of social partner organisations. Differences in the structure of the social dialogue affect the comparability in that the number of organisations covered per country may vary significantly. In addition, the diversity in the structures of the organisations affects the comparability of data in terms of bodies and positions, as the size and scope of the governing body and the number of vice-presidents per organisation may vary. It should be noted that the executive heads are not distinguished from the presidents in all organisations.
Comparability over time	The changes in national legislation relating to the structure of the social dialogue (e.g. changes in the standards that confederations need to fulfil to participate in collective bargaining) or improvements in the methodology, may affect the list of national social partner organisations to be covered. The list is updated before each data collection. Governing bodies may also differ over time as organisations may change their internal structure. Apart from these points, data are comparable.
Coherence with other datasets	Since 2008, the European Trade Union Confederation (ETUC) conducts an annual survey on its members to monitor the participation of women in the European trade union movement. In its ninth edition (May 2016), the survey included questions on the proportion of women in key decision-making bodies for the first time. Although some data may coincide, there are differences in methodology (bodies and positions covered) and coverage (the survey only covers employee organisations that are members of ETUC).

Time coverage	Data were first collected in the 3 rd quarter of 2003 for all European NGOs members of the EU Civil Society Contact Group. From 2007, the list was limited to the eight representatives of the sectoral NGO groupings (see section on organisations covered).
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between May and September.
Completeness	Data are complete.

Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	From 2007, coverage was reduced to include only the eight representatives of the sectoral NGO groupings. Previously, data were collected for all European NGO networks that were members of the umbrella organisations in the EU Civil Society Contact Group (around 60 organisations). Data are therefore fully comparable over time since 2007.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in European non-governmental organisations over time.

7.1 United National Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC)

7.1.1 Bureau of the Conference of Parties (COP), EU and national delegations

Organisations covered	The United National Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) is an international treaty which provides a framework for the 195 Parties to limit average global temperature increases resulting in climate change and to cope with its impacts. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Conference of the Parties (COP): all States that are Parties to the Convention are represented at the COP, the highest political decision-making body of the Convention.</li> <li>• Subsidiary Bodies (SBs): there are two permanent Subsidiary Bodies (the Subsidiary Body for Scientific and technological Advice and the Subsidiary Body for Implementation). These bodies (collectively known as SBs) provide support to the COP in technical matters (ad-hoc working groups are also included in the count, as applicable).</li> <li>• Bureau of the COP: responsible for questions of process management of international negotiation within the COP.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Bureau of the COP: president and members (count includes the president).</li> <li>• COP and SBs: members of national and EU delegations.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Kosovo is not a recognised party to the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change (UNFCCC) and cannot send delegates to participate in the negotiations as a state. Therefore, data on national delegations to the COP and the SBs are collected for the remaining 37 countries covered in the WMID data.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2012 (for 34 countries). The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Montenegro: 2015</li> <li>• Albania: 2018</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> </ul>
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in November/December. Note whilst the COP usually takes place in November/December, the SB sessions tend to take place in May/June. Therefore, for each reference year, data refer to the situation in the meeting month, respectively.
Completeness	In 2020, UNFCCC meeting of COP (COP26) and SB session (SB52) were postponed to 2021 due to COVID-19. Thus, 2020 data for the EU and national delegations to the COP and SB session is flagged as not applicable. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024. Apart from this, data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Comparability across countries is only relevant for national delegations to the COP and the SBs. The difference in sizes of delegations by country should be taken into account. Apart from this point, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There are often changes in the size of national delegations or sessions where some countries do not send delegates. Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	Women's Environment and Development Organization (WEDO) collects statistics on the participation of women and men in the United Nations Framework Convention on Climate Change

	(UNFCCC) process as members of their Party delegations, role as Heads of Delegation, and members of constituted bodies. Data are collected from the UNFCCC final lists of participants and annual gender composition reports and published in the Gender Climate Tracker website. Data are generally comparable but there is a time-lag in the publication of statistics. A review of the coherence between the Gender Climate Tracker data and the EIGE dataset will be carried out.
Data revision	In 2023, the 2022 data recorded for Kosovo were removed.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from the official website and documentation.
Mapping tables	None.

7.2 Environment decision-making bodies in EU institutions

7.2.1 Environment related Directorates-General of the European Commission, committees in the European Parliament, and European agencies

Organisations covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Directorates-General (DGs) of the European Commission with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport.</li> <li>Committees of the European Parliament with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport.</li> <li>European agencies working in areas related to environment, climate change, energy, and transport.</li> </ul> Notes (European agencies): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Executive agencies are not covered by the data as they are linked and supervised by DGs of the European Commission and have no decision-making powers.</li> <li>Joint Undertakings are not covered by the data.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>European Commission (political positions): Commissioner, Head of Cabinet, Cabinet members.</li> <li>European Commission (administrative positions): Director-General (Directorate-General), Directors (Directorates).</li> <li>European Parliament: Chair, members (count includes the chair).</li> <li>European agencies: President and members of the highest decision-making body (count includes the president); Executive head - highest executive position or head of the highest executive body. Usually referred to as either the secretary general or managing director. For organisations that do not have a separate executive position, the president is counted instead.</li> </ul> Notes (European agencies): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>The highest decision-making body is identified from the corresponding regulation establishing each agency, and it is usually called “management board”, “governing board”, “administrative board”, “board of supervisors” or similar terms.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data on environment related DGs of the European Commission and committees of the European Parliament were first collected in 2012. Data on all European agencies were first collected in the 3rd quarter of 2003. Data related to the European agencies dealing with environment and climate change were compiled as a subset of the full EIGE dataset on European agencies in 2021.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in November/December for committees of the European Parliament and DGs of the European Commission, and between June-September for European agencies.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.

Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	There are changes in the number of members of committees and number of Commissioners due to changes in EU membership. For European agencies, there are changes through time in the list and number of agencies covered as agencies are created or disbanded. The list of agencies covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection from the official Commission source (https://europa.eu/european-union/about-eu/agencies_en). Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The dataset for European agencies working in areas related to environment and climate change is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset covering European agencies.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.
Mapping tables	None.

7.3 Environment decision-making in European social partner organisations

7.3.1 European level social partner organisations working in sectors related to environment and climate change

Organisations covered	Employer and trade union organisations working in sectors related to environment and climate change at the EU level, which engage in the European social dialogue - i.e. discussions, consultations, negotiations and joint actions taking place between employers and trade unions at European level as well as between them and EU institutions. Data cover only organisations consulted under Article 154 Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU).
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President of the highest decision-making body.</li> <li>• Members of the highest decision-making body (count includes, where present, the president(s), vice-president(s) and executive head(s)). The counting includes only members with full voting rights.</li> <li>• Executive head, usually referred to as either the Secretary General or Managing Director. For organisations that do not have a separate executive head position, the president is counted instead.</li> </ul> Notes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation's statutes or similar document. In line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, bodies such as the general congress or general assembly are not counted as the highest decision-making body. Coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations.</li> <li>• If the head of the highest decision-making body and the head of the daily executive body are the same person, he/she is counted in both positions.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data on European social partner organisations were first collected in the 3 rd quarter of 2003. Data on environment related European social partner organisations were first compiled in 2021 as a subset of the full EIGE dataset on European social partners.
Frequency of data collection	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between May and September.

and reference period
Completeness	Data are not available for the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• European Skippers Organization (ESO) for all positions between 2003-2006.</li> <li>• Federation of European Private Port Operators (FEPORT) for president and members in 2014.</li> <li>• International Road Transport Union (IRU) for members in 2006.</li> </ul> Apart from this, data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	For some social partner organisations, the decision-making body covered may not be consistent through time – in some cases because the organisation has changed its way of working, in others because the body covered has changed as the methodology has been improved. The list of European social partner organisations covered may also change over time due to changes in the landscape of the social dialogue (e.g. mergers of organisations, new organisations created, etc.). The list is updated before each data collection.  Since 2007, in cases where the head of the highest decision-making body and the daily executive head are the same person, he/she is counted in both positions and if there is no separate executive head position, then the president is counted instead.  Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The dataset for European social partner organisations working in sectors related to environment and climate change is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset covering European social partners.
Data revision	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2022: 2020-2021 data for members in one employers organisation revised.</li> </ul>

7.4 Environment decision-making in European level NGOs

7.4.1 European level NGOs working in areas related to environment and climate change

Organisations covered	Non-governmental organisations established at the European level dealing with issues related to environment and climate change. Data cover the 10 members of Green 10 (an informal grouping of NGOs): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Bankwatch Network</li> <li>• BirdLife international</li> <li>• Climate Action Network Europe</li> <li>• European Environmental Bureau</li> <li>• Friends of the Earth Europe</li> <li>• Greenpeace</li> <li>• Health and Environment Alliance (HEAL)</li> <li>• Naturefriends international</li> <li>• Transport &amp; Environment</li> <li>• WWF European Policy Office</li> </ul> such as the general congress or general assembly are not counted as the highest decision-making body. Coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President of the highest decision-making body</li> <li>• Members of the highest decision-making body (count includes the president)</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation’s statutes or similar document. In line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, bodies</li> </ul>

Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2021.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between September and November.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Data cover only the organisations that are members of Green 10. This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of NGOs dealing with environment and climate change at the European level, but rather it presents the situation in NGOs with the most influence.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	Data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	EIGE's dataset on European NGOs covers the number of women and men in decision-making positions in the informal group of "the Green 10" over time. However, this dataset only covers directors of the member organisations of "the Green 10". There is thus no dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in non-governmental organisations established at the European level dealing with issues related to environment and climate change over time.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.
Mapping tables	None.

7.5 Environment decision-making in national governments and public administration

7.5.1 National ministries and parliamentary committees dealing with environment and climate change

Organisations covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Ministries or departments of national governments with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport. Note that the names of the ministries may vary between countries.</li> <li>Permanent and standing committees with competences related to environment, climate change, energy, and transport formed to work throughout the legislative period in national parliaments. Note that the names of the committees may vary between countries.</li> </ul> Notes (parliamentary committees): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Only permanent and standing parliamentary committees are included in the data collection. Other bodies (e.g. working bodies or equivalent) with functions and composition not clearly defined in the rules of procedure of parliaments (or other legal document) are excluded.</li> <li>Subcommittees, temporary/ad-hoc, and special committees are excluded.</li> <li>Only members with voting rights are included in the counting.</li> <li>In some countries, a parliamentary committee deals with several policy areas in addition to environment/climate change/transport/energy (e.g. Economic committee). Moreover, in some of these cases, the relevant policy area is dealt by a smaller sub-committee. As per women and men in decision-making methodology, the overall permanent/standing committee is covered.</li> </ul>
------------------------------	--

Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• National government ministers: senior and junior government ministers with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport. Senior ministers are ministers that have a seat in the cabinet or council of ministers, junior ministers do not. Members of the government = sum of senior and junior ministers</li> <li>• National administrations: Level 1 and level 2 administrators - the two highest levels of administrative (non-political) positions in ministries with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport. Senior administrators = sum of level 1 and level 2 administrators.</li> <li>• Parliamentary committees: president/chair and members of committee(s) with competences in environment, climate change, energy, and transport in the single/lower, upper house and joint committees (count includes the president).</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024. Data on environment and climate change related to parliamentary committees exclude the six EU candidates (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Albania, Serbia, and Türkiye) and one potential candidate (Kosovo).
Time coverage	Data on national ministries were first collected in 2012 for 34 countries. The geographic coverage has expanded through time so for the countries listed below the time series starts in the period indicated: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Montenegro: 2015</li> <li>• Albania: 2018</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina: 2018</li> <li>• Kosovo: 2018</li> </ul> Data on parliamentary committees were first collected in August-October 2017 for 27 EU Member States and United Kingdom, and in August 2018 for Iceland, Liechtenstein, and Norway only. Data on parliamentary committees related to environment and climate change were first compiled in 2021 as a subset of the full EIGE dataset on parliamentary committees for 31 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data for national government ministers and administrations are collected on an annual basis, typically in November/December. Data for parliamentary committees are collected on an annual basis since 2019, typically in August/September.
Completeness	Data are generally complete. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024.
Accuracy	For some countries, data on administrators refer to situation as of previous year, as most up-to-date information is not available (see section on Public Administration). Apart from this point, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The major difference between countries is that in some countries the concept of government refers only to the cabinet (senior ministers) whilst in others the concept is wider and includes junior ministers. Data are broken down by level of seniority so that this difference can be taken into account. The different political and institutional systems implemented across countries also results in functions corresponding to junior ministers to differ from a country to another. Likewise, for administrative positions, there are differences in national administrative systems (for example, level 1 and level 2 administrators correspond to different functions from a country to another and also between ministries within a country). Fixing “level 1” to refer to the first level below the political positions can result in big differences between countries where only the minister is counted as political and others where two or more tiers are considered as such. This is visible for instance in the high differences in the average number of administrators covered by country. Depending on the institutional organisation in the country, this difference may be exacerbated further at the next level (level 2). For parliamentary committees, the major difference between countries is that some have a unicameral system with just one house of parliament whilst others have a bicameral system with two houses. Data are cover all parliamentary committees dealing with environment and climate

	change (with no breakdown by type of house). Also, the number of parliamentary committees covered varies across countries. Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	For government ministers, there are often changes in the size of governments and therefore the number of ministers counted following elections or reshuffles may differ. For national administrators, the number of ministries covered may vary over time due to organisational changes. For parliamentary committees, there may be changes in the number of committees covered by country i.e. following amendments to the rules of procedure or legislative elections. The list of ministries and parliamentary committees to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection. Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The datasets for national ministries and parliamentary committees related to environment and climate change are subsets of the wider EIGE datasets covering national ministries and parliamentary committees.
Data revision	In May 2023, 2019-2022 data for Netherlands and Romania, 2020-2022 data for Italy, 2022 data for Germany, Croatia, Latvia, Hungary, Austria, Poland, Portugal, and the United Kingdom, and Iceland were revised.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.

7.6 Decision-making in agriculture

7.6.1 Farm managers and farm holders

Environment and climate change entry point also includes decision-making in agriculture which covers data from Eurostat's EU Farm Structure Survey (FSS) on farm managers and farm holders.

Four datasets are published in the WMID database:

- Number of farms managed by women and men, by age and size of farm (hectares)
- Proportion of farms managed by women and men, by age and size of farm (hectares)
- Farm holders receiving support for rural development by sex and age of holder and type of measure
- Proportion of farm holders receiving support for rural development by sex and age of holder and type of measure

8. Media

8.1 Public broadcasters and media regulatory authorities

8.1.1 Public broadcasters

Organisations covered	Publicly owned broadcasting organisations (TV, radio and news agencies) operating at the national level. In the case that no national level public broadcasters exist, the highest sub- national (regional) organisations are counted instead. In all other cases, regional and local organisations are excluded. TV, radio and news agencies are counted separately provided they have separate operational structures with independent decision-making bodies. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In Belgium, there are no public broadcasters at the national level. In this case, separate broadcasters for each of the linguistic communities are covered instead.</li> <li>• Publicly owned broadcasters may be co-funded by private sources.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the highest decision-making body in each organisation.</li> <li>• Members: data cover all members of the highest decision-making bodies in each organisation (i.e. chairperson, non-executive directors, senior executives and employee representatives, where relevant).</li> <li>• CEO: Chief Executive Officer or equivalent position.</li> <li>• Executives: all executive members (if any) of the highest decision-making body and all members of the highest executive committee/board with responsibility for day-to-day management of the organisation.</li> <li>• Non-executives: data cover non-executive directors in the highest decision-making body and in the highest executive committee/board (if any) in each organisation. Employee representatives participating in the highest decision-making body are included in the count of non-executive members.</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation’s statutes or similar document. In line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations. Bodies with advisory or counselling role are not included.</li> <li>• Any individual that is a member of both the highest decision-making body and the highest executive committee/board is counted only once.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	WMID data on media were first collected in 2014 (for 34 countries). The geographic coverage of the database has been expanded through time. For Montenegro, the time series starts in 2015 and for Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Kosovo, it starts in 2018.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in May/June. In 2023, data for the IPA beneficiaries were collected between July-August.
Completeness	Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2025: data for decision-making positions of the newly established public broadcaster (LSM - Latvijas Sabiedriskais medijs) in Latvia were not available at the time of data collection.</li> </ul>
Accuracy	2017 data for members and non-executives in one organisation in Romania refer to 2016 as the highest decision-making body was dismissed and not appointed at the time of data collection. Apart from this point, data can be considered fully accurate.

Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The organisational structure of public broadcasters varies among (and within) countries. Not all organisations have an established management board in which case senior executives are counted instead. Therefore, the number of executives may vary significantly among the different organisations. In addition, the number of public broadcaster organisations per country is not the same. Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The list of public broadcasters to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection. Occasionally, there are changes in the number of public broadcasters covered by country i.e. due to merger of organisations, or privatisation of nationally owned broadcaster organisations. These are generally small changes, but there are some exceptions: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Hungary: the four public media services merged into a single public broadcaster in July 2015. The changes were reflected in 2016 WMID data.</li> </ul> Apart from these points, data are generally comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in publicly owned broadcasting organisations over time.
Data revision	Following clarifications and replies from contact persons, revisions were made: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2016: 2014 and 2015 data revised for Czechia, Luxembourg, and Finland.</li> <li>• 2017: data for Germany (2015 and 2016) and Luxembourg (2016) were revised.</li> <li>• 2018: 2017 data revised for Belgium, Ireland, Cyprus, Romania, Finland, United Kingdom, and Iceland. For Germany, data for periods 2014-2017 were revised.</li> <li>• 2020: 2019 data revised for members in Spain.</li> <li>• 2021: 2014-2020 data for non-executives in Denmark, Ireland, Greece, France, Croatia, Romania, Slovenia, Sweden, Iceland, and Norway were revised to include employee representatives.</li> <li>• 2023: 2022 data for the CEO in Iceland and members and non-executives in Albania were revised.</li> </ul>
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.
Mapping tables	Media: public broadcasters

8.1.2 Media regulatory authorities

Organisations covered	Independent national regulatory authorities who supervise media and broadcasting activities to ensure compliance with national and European rules. Independent organisations are understood as entities with their own statutes, or whose establishment, powers, and rules of procedure are regulated by a specific law. Branches or departments of ministries, organisations regulating only areas that are not strictly related to media and broadcasting activities (e.g. telecommunications or market regulation), organisations taking up only administrative functions (e.g. handling of complaints, or registration of licences), and self-regulatory organisations comprised solely of representatives of media organisations (e.g. journalists' unions) are excluded. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In Belgium, there are no independent media regulatory authorities at the national level. The regional organisations are covered instead.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the highest decision-making body</li> <li>• Members of the highest decision-making body (count includes the president). In cases where no decision-making body is present, the highest in hierarchy executive and senior executives are counted instead.</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation's statutes or similar document. In line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the</li> </ul>

	organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Separate management bodies are not included.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	WMID data on media were first collected in 2014 (for 34 countries). The geographic coverage of the database has been expanded through time. For Montenegro, the time series starts in 2015, and for Albania, Bosnia and Herzegovina, and Kosovo, the time series starts in 2018.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in May/June.  In 2023, data for the IPA beneficiaries were collected between July-August.
Completeness	Data are mostly complete. Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.
Accuracy	2019 data for the organisation in Netherlands refers to 2018 as the body was suspended and not appointed at the time of data collection.  Apart from this point, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The scope and structure of media regulatory authorities differ among countries. In some countries, there is a single regulatory authority in charge of broadcasting, telecommunications and market regulation, while in others there are separate authorities for each area. In these cases, only the authority strictly connected to broadcasting is covered. No distinction is made between authorities regulating public and/or private broadcasters. In terms of structure, some authorities are comprised only by a decision-making council (usually termed the Media Council), while others have a full organisational structure. In the latter case, the highest decision-making body is taken into account and where there is no such body then the senior executives are counted.  Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The list of public broadcasters to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection. Occasionally, the media regulatory authorities to be covered in each country may vary i.e. due to changes in the regulatory framework at the national or European level: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Liechtenstein: some of the media supervisory and regulatory functions were transferred from the government to the Office for Communication in 2017. The organisation was therefore added to the WMID data collection from 2017 onwards.</li> </ul> Apart from this point, data are generally comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in media regulatory authorities over time.
Data revision	The following revisions were applied: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2018: following a review of the organisations to be covered, data for Estonia, Spain, and Slovenia were revised for periods 2014-2017 and for Liechtenstein, 2017 data were revised to include the new organisation.</li> <li>• 2023: data for members in Bosnia and Herzegovina were revised for the periods 2020-2022.</li> <li>• 2025: 2019-2024 data revised for members in Estonia following clarifications provided by contact.</li> </ul>

9.1 Research funding organisations

Organisations covered	Self-governed funding organisations allocating national public funds to research organisations, programmes or projects in the countries, are covered. In cases where there is no research funding organisation fulfilling these criteria, the Ministry responsible for allocating the funds is covered and the decision-makers are identified on a case-by-case basis due to inherent differences. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• There are no self-governed research funding organisations in Italy, Romania, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Serbia, Bosnia and Herzegovina, Kosovo and Liechtenstein. In these cases, the ministry responsible for research funding is covered, and decision-makers are defined on a case-by-case basis: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• RO, ME, MK, RS, and BA: data cover the head and members of the evaluating body (often referred as Evaluation Committee) set up to assess the projects submitted in the last open call. For RO and ME, there is no head of the evaluating body as all the evaluators are considered equal.</li> <li>• IT: the ministry responsible for allocating funding organises multiple small evaluation committees. In order to depict an accurate representation on the situation, data cover presidents and members of all evaluation committees involved in assessing the latest call.</li> <li>• XK: the ministry organises multiple councils that evaluate the projects for each scientific field and report findings to the Scientific Council of the ministry. WMID data cover the Scientific Council which is the body that makes the final decisions about the allocation of funding.</li> <li>• LI: there is no competitive project funding managed at the national level. Instead, the government includes in the annual budget contributions for research purposes to a number of organisations. Thus, data cover the government unit (i.e. the head and persons working in the unit) in charge of preparing the budget for research.</li> </ul> </li> <li>• Data exclude organisations allocating only international (e.g. EU), regional, or private funds; funding only individuals/individual costs (e.g. scholarships, salaries, training, etc.); or whose funds can only be allocated to certain regions or institutions.</li> <li>• Data include public foundations, established with a government endowment (i.e. not from national state budget).</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the highest decision-making body.</li> <li>• Members: members of the highest decision-making body (count includes the president).</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the statutes or equivalent document (e.g. charter) of the organisations covered. Due to the diversity of organisational types and governance structures the type of decision-making body covered varies considerably. Bodies covered include boards of directors, boards of trustees, councils, management boards, presidiums, steering committees, scientific boards or committees and supervisory boards.</li> <li>• Only members with voting rights are included in the counting.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	WMID data on research funding organisations were first collected in March 2017 for the 27 EU Member States and United Kingdom. In 2018 the geographic coverage was expanded to include all all the countries covered by the WMID data. For the countries listed below the time series starts in 2019: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Montenegro</li> <li>• North Macedonia</li> <li>• Albania</li> <li>• Serbia</li> <li>• Türkiye</li> <li>• Bosnia and Herzegovina</li> </ul>

Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically in February and March. In 2023, data for the IPA beneficiaries were collected in July.
Completeness	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2017 data for Italy and Romania not available</li> <li>• 2024-2026: structural changes introduced in Malta in 2024 abolishing the existing research funding organisation and setting up a new establishment; no data available on decision-makers.</li> <li>• 2018-2022: no data available for president in one organisation covered for Iceland.</li> </ul> Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected between 2024-2026.
Accuracy	For the countries for which the ministry is covered, generally the non-permanent evaluating body that assessed the projects of the latest open call is covered. In case the non-permanent evaluating body is not active during the reference year (i.e. because no open calls were launched), data from the last year the body was active is used. <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2020: data for IT, RO, ME, RS and XK refer to 2019.</li> <li>• 2021: data for IT, RO, ME, XK refer to 2019. Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The research and development systems vary across countries. In some countries, there is a single funding organisation responsible for the allocation of funds, in others, this role is split between different organisations, whilst in some other cases there is no independent funding organisation, and a ministry is responsible for the allocation of funds. In these cases, the decision-making positions are decided on case-by-case basis (see section 0 Organisations covered). The scope and extent to which research funding organisations can decide on the distribution of funds between research fields also varies. The organisational structures of research funding organisations differ, both within and between countries. Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The list of research funding organisations to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection. There are occasionally changes in the list and number of research funding organisations covered by country due to changes in the research and development system in the country. Generally, changes are minor with the following exception: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• United Kingdom: coverage dropped from 9 to 1 in 2018 as the newly established umbrella organisation acts as the main research funding institution.</li> </ul> Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no other dataset compiling the number of women and men in decision-making positions in research funding organisations over time.
Data revision	After clarifications and data received from contacts, the following revisions were made: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2018: 2017 data revised to include one more organisation in Spain (coverage up from 2 to 3) and two more in United Kingdom (up from 7 to 9). ## 9.2 National academies of science

Organisations covered	National (or royal) academies of sciences operating at the national level and focusing on at least one of the 2007 Field of Science<sup>1</sup> and technology (FOS) level 2 scientific fields. The only case in the current dataset is Belgium where academies operate within the three language communities.</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President: chairperson of the highest decision-making body.</li> <li>• Members: members of the highest decision-making body (count includes the president).</li> </ul> Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the statutes or equivalent document (e.g. charter) of the organisations covered. However, in line with the general methodological principle of WMID data collection, the plenum (body comprising of all members of the academy) is not counted as the highest decision-making body. Coverage is restricted to those bodies which: have a major impact on the policy and operation of the organisation; take decisions on a regular basis (more than biannually); and whose members are clearly identifiable individuals and not organisations. In cases where statutes identify the plenum as the academy's highest decision-making body, the second in hierarchy body is covered.</li> <li>• Due to the diversity of governance structures the type of decision-making body covered varies considerably. Bodies covered include, boards of directors, councils, senates, directorates, presidiums, steering committees, trustee boards etc.</li> <li>• Bodies having primarily an advisory role or solely in charge of day-to-day administration of the organisation (e.g. secretariats, executive teams, etc.) are not covered.</li> <li>• Only members with voting rights are included in the counting.</li> </ul>
Reference area	There are no national academies of science in Malta, Iceland and Liechtenstein. Thus, data are collected for 35 countries covered by the WMID data. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2023.

The organisational structures of national academies also differ, both within and between countries. Apart from these points, data are fully comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The list of national academies of sciences to be covered is updated before each data collection. Changes in the national academies of science covered in each country (e.g. in case a new academy is established) are unlikely, and thus the comparability of data through time is considered good.

10.1 Sports organisations at European level

10.1.1 European Sports Confederations

Organisations covered	European Confederation acting as the governing body of an Olympic sport at the European level. Olympic sports are those governed by International Federation of sports recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and currently included in the sports programme of the Games of the Olympiad and in the Olympic Winter Games, as per Articles 1.3.1 and 1.4.1 of the International Olympic Committee's Olympic Charter. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Sports that are governed by International Federation and recognised by the IOC but not individually listed in the Olympic Charter are not included.</li> <li>• Not all Olympic sports have a representative European Confederation.</li> <li>• Organisations representing the discipline/branch of an Olympic sport are excluded unless there is no organisation representing the sport as a whole.</li> <li>• Organisations representing non-Olympic sports are excluded.</li> </ul>

Sampling error	Data cover the European Confederations acting as the governing body of an Olympic sport as listed in the Articles 1.3.1 and 1.4.1 of the International Olympic Committee's Olympic Charter (the list of organisations to be covered is updated annually before each data collection). This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of confederations of sports, but rather it presents the situation in organisations with impact at the EU level for Olympic sports.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	The list of European Sports Confederations to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection based on the list of Olympic sports included in the IOC charter. ## 10.2 Sports organisations at national level

10.2.1 National Olympic Committees (NOCs)

Organisations covered	The National Olympic Committees (NOC) are independent self-governing organisations representing the Olympic movement in their respective country. Their members are the national federations (NFs) representing Olympic sports. NOCs are responsible for strategic planning and promotion of the sport, overseeing rules and regulations, increasing participation and developing talent. They receive recognition from the IOC, which has the authority to suspend the recognition in case there are disputes or concerns. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Only NOCs recognised by the IOC are covered. ## 10.2.2 National ministries dealing with sports

Organisations covered	Ministries or departments of national governments with responsibility for sports. Note that the names of the ministries may vary between countries.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Senior ministers: members of the government in ministries with competences in sports who have a seat on the cabinet or council of ministers.</li> <li>• Junior ministers: members of the government in ministries with competences in sports who do not have a seat on the cabinet.</li> <li>• Members of the government or political executive: sum of senior and junior ministers.</li> <li>• Level 1 administrators: highest level of administrative (non-political) positions in ministries with competences in sports.</li> <li>• Level 2 administrators: second level of administrative (non-political) positions in ministries with competences in sports.</li> <li>• Senior administrators: sum of level 1 and level 2 administrators.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	Data were first collected in 2019 for the all the countries covered by WMID database.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between September and December.
Completeness	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2019-2021 data for Level 1 and 2 administrators in Belgium were partially available (refer to Flemish community only).</li> </ul> Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025.
Accuracy	Data for some countries refer to situation in an earlier period, as the most up-to-date information was not available. For the cases below, data broken down by department is not available thus the whole ministry is covered instead: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2020: Level 1 and 2 in administrators in FR, PT, and SE and Level 2 in EL, MT, NL, SK, and FI.</li> <li>• 2021: Level 1 and 2 in administrators in FR, PT and SE and Level 2 in EL, MT, NL, SK, and FI.</li> <li>• 2022: Level 1 and 2 in administrators in DE, FR, PT, and SE and Level 2 in EL, MT, NL, SK, and FI.</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2023: Level 1 and 2 in administrators in DE, FR, PT, and SE and Level 2 in EL, CY, MT, NL, SK, FI, SE, UK.</li> <li>• 2024: Level 1 and 2 in administrators in DE, FR, PT, and SE and Level 2 in CY, MT, NL, SK, FI, SE, UK.</li> <li>• 2025: level 1 and 2 data refer to 2023 for Croatia, and 2024 for Germany, Estonia, and Italy. Apart from these points, data can be considered fully accurate.</li> </ul>
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The main difference for the data on ministers between countries is that in some countries the concept of government refers only to the cabinet (senior ministers) whilst in others the concept is wider and includes junior ministers. Data are broken down by level of seniority so that this difference can be taken into account. The different political and institutional systems implemented across countries also results in functions corresponding to junior ministers to differ from a country to another. Likewise, for administrative positions, there are differences in national administrative systems (for example, level 1 and level 2 administrators correspond to different functions from a country to another and between ministries within a country). Fixing “level 1” to refer to the first level below the political positions can result in big differences between countries where only the minister is counted as political and others where two or more tiers are considered as such. This is visible for instance in the high differences in the average number of administrators covered by country. Depending on the institutional organisation in the country, this difference may be exacerbated further at the next level (level 2). Furthermore, in Belgium there is no ministry dealing with sports at the national government level and the responsibility lies with the community (i.e. regional) ministries. Thus, WMID data cover the rounded average number of senior and junior (if applicable) ministers as well as Level 1 and Level 2 administrators across the three community ministries in order to avoid undue weight on the EU level figure. Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	In 2023, the Romanian government abolished the Ministry of Sports and handed all relevant duties to the National Sports Agency. Therefore, data for senior and junior ministers as well as Level 1 and 2 administrators responsible for sports in Romania are not applicable. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no dataset compiling the number of women and men as ministers with competences in sports and senior administrators in ministries with competences in sports over time.

10.2.3 National sports federations (top ten most funded sports)

Organisations covered	Federations of the top ten Olympic sports granted the highest public funding during the latest allocation of funds. Olympic sports are those governed by International Federation of sports recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and currently included in the sports programme of the Games of the Olympiad and in the Olympic Winter Games, as per Articles 1.3.1 and 1.4.1 of the International Olympic Committee's Olympic Charter. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• In some cases, the ministry with responsibility for sports allocates the public funding whilst in others it is channelled through an external organisation. Data takes into account both kinds of funding allocation models.</li> <li>• Federations representing a discipline/branch of an Olympic sport are excluded, unless there is no organisation representing the sport as a whole.</li> </ul>

	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Umbrella organisations (such as National Olympic Committees, confederations of sports) receiving public funding are excluded.</li> <li>• In Belgium, there are no federations acting as the governing body of sport at the national level. In this case, 10 regional federations for each linguistic community (acting as the regional governing body for sports) are covered and data show the rounded average for each position to avoid undue weight. Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between September and December. From 2023, the sample of most funded sports is updated every other year (previously annual).
Completeness	Data for the six EU candidate countries and one potential candidate (i.e., IPA beneficiaries) were not collected in 2024 and 2025. No data collected for Germany as the list of top ten most funded sports was not provided in any of the reference years. 	for NL. Apart from these points, data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Data cover only federations of the top ten most funded Olympic sports that fulfil the selection criteria i.e. top ten Olympic sports granted the highest funding during the latest allocation of public funds. This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of sports federations in each country, but rather it presents the situation in federations of sports granted the most public funding at national level.
Comparability across countries	The major difference between countries is that regional federations act as the governing bodies of sports in Belgium compared to national organisations in all other countries. Therefore, the sample for Belgium covers 30 regional federations (10 per linguistic community) compared to 10 national federations in all other cases. Data for Belgium are disseminated as rounded averages for each position in order to increase the comparability with other countries. Apart from this point, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	Comparability of data over time is affected by the regular update of the list (sample) of national sports federations covered in each country, which is based on the latest allocation of public funds. Since 2023, the sample is updated biennially (previously annually). In addition, changes in the Olympic sports covered as per the International Olympic Committee's Olympic Charter may also affect the list of national sports federations covered in each country, but these are very rare. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The EIGE dataset on federations of top ten most popular sports contains data on the number of women and men in national federations of top ten most popular sports, which partially overlaps with the dataset on top ten most funded sports.

Organisations covered	Federations of the top ten most popular Olympic sports identified based on national statistical data and desk research in 2015. Olympic sports are those governed by International Federation of sports recognised by the International Olympic Committee (IOC) and currently included in the sports programme of the Games of the Olympiad and in the Olympic Winter Games, as per Articles 1.3.1 and 1.4.1 of the International Olympic Committee's Olympic Charter. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Federations representing a discipline/branch of an Olympic sport are excluded, unless there is no organisation representing the sport as a whole.</li> <li>• Umbrella organisations (such as National Olympic Committees, confederations of sports) are excluded.</li> </ul>

Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States only. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024.
Time coverage	WMID data on national sports federations based on a sample of top ten most popular sports were first collected in 2015. Data for the same sample was updated in 2018 between September - October.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data were first collected in 2015, and are collected on an annual basis since 2018, typically between September and December.
Completeness	Data are complete except for the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>2015: data for members not available in Bulgaria (1 organisation), Greece (1), Spain (2), Croatia (2), and Malta (2).</li> <li>2018 and 2019: data not available for the executive head of one organisation in Portugal.</li> </ul>
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Data cover only the national sport federations of the top ten most popular sports sample drawn in 2015. The popularity of the sports was measured using national statistics (only available for DK, DE, AT, and LT), desk research (using phrases such as "most popular sports" "national sporting statistics", "popular sports", and "top 10 sports) for each country, and cross-checking the lists found in various sources. This implies data might not be fully representative of the whole spectrum of national sport federations in each country, but rather it presents the situation in sport federations identified as the most popular.
Comparability across countries	Data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	Comparability over time may be affected by stricter methodological guidelines applied during the 2018 update to align with other WMID topics: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Highest decision-making body: defined as the governing body of the federation, usually led by the president/chairman of the organisation, which meets on a regular basis (i.e. more than annually) and has decision-making competences. This led to coverage of a different decision-making body for 11 cases (including one federation in MT, BE, CY; two in DE, NL; and four in FR) compared to the 2015 data collection.</li> <li>Members of the highest decision-making body include only those with full voting rights; members without voting rights (i.e. those with advisory role, alternates, honorary) are not counted. The principle was not applied fully in 2015 data collection thus non-voting members were counted in some cases.</li> </ul> These changes may have had an impact on figures at the national level.
Coherence with other datasets	The EIGE dataset on federations of top ten most funded sports contains data on the number of women and men in national federations of top ten most funded sports, which partially overlaps with the EIGE dataset on top ten most popular sports..
Data revision	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Following the clarifications received during 2019 data collection, 2018 data revised for the following positions in the specified number of organisations in each country: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Members: data revised for Greece, Italy, Poland, and Romania.</li> <li>Executive head: data revised for Italy, Netherlands, and Austria.</li> </ul> </li> <li>2024: revised 2018-2023 members data for Malta.</li> </ul>

11.2 Transport decision-making in European social partner organisations

11.2.1 European level social partner organisations working in sectors related to transport

Organisations covered	Employer and trade union organisations working in sectors related to transport at the EU level, which engage in the European social dialogue - i.e. discussions, consultations, negotiations and joint actions taking place between employers and trade unions at European level as well as between them and EU institutions. Data cover only organisations consulted under Article 154 Treaty on the Functioning of the European Union (TFEU).
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President of the highest decision-making body.</li> <li>• Members of the highest decision-making body (count includes, where present, the president(s), vice-president(s) and executive head(s)). The counting includes only members with full voting rights.</li> <li>• Executive head, usually referred to as either the Secretary General or Managing Director. For organisations that do not have a separate executive head position, the president is counted instead.</li> </ul> Notes <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The highest decision-making body is identified from the relevant organisation's statutes or similar document. Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data on European social partner organisations were first collected in the 3 rd quarter of 2003; data on transport related European social partner organisations were first compiled in 2021 as a subset of the full EIGE dataset on European social partners.

Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between May and September.
Completeness	Data are not available for the following cases: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• European Skippers Organization (ESO) for all positions between 2003-2006.</li> <li>• Federation of European Private Port Operators (FEPORT) for president and members in 2014.</li> <li>• International Road Transport Union (IRU) for members in 2006.</li> </ul> Apart from this, data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	For some organisations, the decision-making body covered may not be consistent through time – in some cases because the organisation has changed its way of working, in others because the body covered has changed as the methodology has been improved. The list of European social partner organisations covered may also change over time due to changes in the landscape of the social dialogue (e.g. mergers of organisations, new organisations created, etc.). The list is updated before each data collection.
	Since 2007, in cases where the head of the highest decision-making body and the daily executive head are the same person, he/she is counted in both positions and if there is no separate executive head position, then the president is counted instead.
	Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The dataset for transport related European Social partners is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset covering European Social partner organisations.
Data revision	None.

11.3 Transport decision-making in national governments and public administration

11.3.1 National ministries and parliamentary committees dealing with transport

Organisations covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Ministries or departments of national governments with competences in transport. Note that the names of the ministries may vary between countries.</li> <li>• Permanent and standing committees with competences related to transport formed to work throughout the legislative period in national parliaments. Note that the names of the committees may vary between countries.</li> </ul> Notes (parliamentary committees): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Only permanent and standing parliamentary committees are included in the data collection. Other bodies (e.g. working bodies or equivalent) with functions and composition not clearly defined in the rules of procedure of parliaments (or other legal document) are excluded.</li> <li>• Subcommittees, temporary/ad-hoc, and special committees are excluded.</li> <li>• Only members with voting rights are included in the counting.</li> <li>• In some countries, a parliamentary committee deals with several policy areas in addition to transport (e.g. Economic committee). Moreover, in some of these cases, the relevant policy area is dealt by a smaller sub-committee. As per women and men in decision-making methodology, the overall permanent/standing committee is covered.</li> </ul>
------------------------------	--

Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>National government ministers: senior and junior government ministers with competences in transport. Senior ministers are ministers that have a seat in the cabinet or council of ministers, junior ministers do not. Members of the government or political executive = sum of senior and junior ministers</li> <li>Parliamentary committees: President/chair and members of committee(s) with competences in transport in the single/lower, upper house and joint committees (count includes the president).</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, six EU candidate countries, one potential candidate and the three remaining EEA countries. Data covered the United Kingdom up to 2024. Data on transport related to national ministries and parliamentary committees exclude the six EU candidates (Bosnia and Herzegovina, Montenegro, North Macedonia, Albania, Serbia, and Türkiye) and one potential candidate (Kosovo).
Time coverage	Data on national ministries related to transport were first collected in 2020 for the 27 EU Member States, United Kingdom and the three remaining EEA countries. Data on parliamentary committees were first collected in August-October 2017 for 27 EU Member States and the United Kingdom, and in August 2018 for Iceland, Liechtenstein, and Norway. Data on parliamentary committees related to transport were first compiled as a subset of the full EIGE dataset on parliamentary committees in 2020 for 31 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data for national government ministers are collected on an annual basis, typically in November/December. Data for parliamentary committees are collected on an annual basis since 2019, typically in August/September.
Completeness	Parliamentary committees: there are no parliamentary committees dealing with transport in Liechtenstein, the responsibility lies directly with the government. Apart from this point, data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	In the case of national transport ministers, the major difference between countries is that in some countries the concept of government refers only to the cabinet (senior ministers) whilst in others the concept is wider and includes junior ministers. Data are broken down by level of seniority so that this difference can be taken into account. The different political and institutional systems implemented across countries also results in functions corresponding to junior ministers to differ from a country to another. Moreover, in some countries, more than one ministry is responsible for transport. Data cover all relevant senior and junior ministers (where applicable) with responsibility for transport. For parliamentary committees, the major difference between countries is that some have a unicameral system with just one house of parliament whilst others have a bicameral system with two houses. Data are cover all parliamentary committees dealing with environment and climate change (with no breakdown by type of house). Also, the number of parliamentary committees covered varies across countries. Apart from these points, data are comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	The number of administrators and ministers covered may vary over time due to organisational changes. For parliamentary committees, there may be changes in the committees covered by country i.e. following amendments to the rules of procedure or legislative elections. Apart from these points, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The datasets for national ministries and parliamentary committees related to transport are subsets of the wider EIGE datasets covering national government ministers and parliamentary committees.
Data revision	In May 2023, 2017-2022 data for Italy, and 2020-2022 data for Czechia were revised.

12.2 COVID-19 decision-making at the national level

12.2.1 National government ministers dealing with COVID-19/health

Organisations covered	Ministries or departments of national government dealing with COVID-19/health. The national government is the executive body with authority to govern a country or a state. The Cabinet is defined as a body of high-ranking members of the government, typically representing the executive branch and formed of senior ministers. In some cases, where there are no junior ministers, the national government is the Cabinet. It may also be referred to as the Council of Ministers, an Executive Council or an Executive Committee.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Senior ministers: members of the government in ministries with competences in COVID-19/health who have a seat on the cabinet or council of ministers.</li> <li>• Junior ministers: members of the government in ministries with competences in COVID-19/health who do not have a seat on the cabinet.</li> <li>• Members of the government or political executive: sum of senior and junior ministers.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, United Kingdom, and the three remaining EEA countries.
Time coverage	Data cover the period 2020-2022 for 31 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data were collected on an annual basis, typically in November/December. This was an ad hoc collection to inform on decision-making during an exceptional period and there are no plans to repeat it.
Completeness	Data are generally complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The major difference between countries is that in some countries the concept of government refers only to the cabinet (senior ministers) whilst in others the concept is wider and includes junior ministers. Data are broken down by level of seniority so that this difference can be taken into account.
Comparability over time	There are often changes in the size of governments so that the number of ministers counted in each country may vary through time, particularly after elections or reshuffles. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The dataset for national government ministers dealing with COVID-19/health is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset covering all national governments.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites.
Mapping tables	Senior and junior ministers dealing with COVID-19/health

12.2.2 National administrations dealing with COVID-19/health

Organisations covered	Ministries or departments of national governments with competences in COVID-19/health. Note the names of the ministries may vary between countries.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>Level 1 administrators: all administrative (non-political) positions from the head of the ministry down to the level of head of directorate or similar, where a directorate is a major section within the ministry.</li> <li>Level 2 administrators: all positions below the head of directorate down to the level of head of division/department, where a division/department is the first level of organisation below the directorate (i.e. the second level of functional organisation).</li> <li>Senior administrators: sum of level 1 and level 2 administrators.</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, United Kingdom, and the three remaining EEA countries.
Time coverage	Data cover the period 2020-2022 for 31 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data were collected on an annual basis, typically between June and October. This was an ad hoc collection to inform on decision-making during an exceptional period and there are no plans to repeat it.
Completeness	Data are generally complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	There are differences in national administrative systems (for example, level 1 and level 2 administrators correspond to different functions from a country to another and between ministries within a country). Fixing “level 1” to refer to the first level below the political positions can result in big differences between countries where only the minister is counted as political and others where two or more tiers are considered as such. This is visible for instance in the high differences in the average number of administrators covered by country. Depending on the institutional organisation in the country, this difference may be exacerbated further at the next level (level 2).
Comparability over time	The number of administrators covered may vary over time due to organisational changes. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	Data for national administrations related to COVID-19/health is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset on national administrations.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.
Mapping tables	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>National ministries dealing with COVID-19/health</li> <li>Level 1 and Level 2 administrators in ministries dealing with COVID-19/health</li> </ul>

12.2.3 Parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health

Organisations covered	Permanent and standing committees with responsibility for COVID-19/health formed to work throughout the legislative period in national parliaments. In a bicameral system, the parliament consists of two chambers or houses - a lower house and an upper house. In a unicameral system, there is just a single house of parliament. Data refer to all parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health linked to both houses and include joint committees (serving both houses) where relevant. Notes: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>In some countries, a parliamentary committee deals with several policy areas in addition to COVID-19/health (e.g. Social affairs committee). Moreover, in some of these cases, COVID-19/health is dealt by a smaller sub-committee. However, in line with the methodological principles applied to the full dataset on parliamentary committees, ad-hoc/sub-committees are excluded (i.e., data cover the permanent/standing committees only).</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>President/chair</li> <li>Members (count includes the president/chair)</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, United Kingdom, and for Iceland and Norway.

	In Liechtenstein, there are no parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health; the responsibility lies with the national government.
Time coverage	Data cover the period 2020-2021 for 30 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data were collected on an annual basis, typically in August/September. This was an ad hoc collection to inform on decision-making during an exceptional period and there are no plans to repeat it.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	The major difference between countries is that some have a unicameral system with just one house of parliament whilst others have a bicameral system with two houses. Data refer to all parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health (with no breakdown by type of house). Also, the number of parliamentary committees covered varies across countries. Apart from these points, data can be considered fully comparable between countries.
Comparability over time	There may be changes in the committees covered by country i.e. following amendments to the rules of procedure or legislative elections. Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	The dataset for parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health is a subset of the wider EIGE dataset covering all parliamentary committees.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.
Mapping tables	Parliamentary committees dealing with COVID-19/health

12.2.4 Scientific advisory committees/bodies for COVID-19

Organisations covered	Scientific advisory committees/bodies tasked with monitoring the COVID-19 situation and providing expert advice to support the government's decision-making on how to manage the pandemic and vaccination strategy.
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• President/chair</li> <li>• Members (count includes the president/chair)</li> </ul>
Reference area	Data are collected for the 27 EU Member States, United Kingdom, and the three remaining EEA countries.
Time coverage	Data cover the period 2020-2022 for 31 countries.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are collected on an annual basis, typically between March and June. This was an ad hoc collection to inform on decision-making during an exceptional period and there are no plans to repeat it.
Completeness	No organisation has been identified (i.e., did not exist or not found) for HR, HU, MT, PT, SK, FI, NO for 2020-2022 hence data excludes these countries. For countries where an organisation has been identified, data is not available for the following cases for the respective position (note that for some countries more than one organisation is covered; the note below applies to all organisations covered in the country, unless specified otherwise): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• 2020: Presidents and members: DK, CY, LV, LT, RO, UK (two organisations). Presidents only: LU (one organisation). Members only: DE (one organisation), PL (one organisation).</li> <li>• 2021: Presidents and members: LV, UK (two organisations), LI. Presidents only: LT, LU (one organisation). Members only: PL (two organisations), RO.</li> <li>• 2022: Presidents and members: ES (two organisations), LV. Presidents only: LT. Members only: CY (one organisation), PL (one organisation), RO, UK (two organisations).</li> </ul>
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.

Comparability across countries	There are differences in the number of bodies covered across countries. Sometimes, there is a single body whilst others have separate bodies dealing with specific issues (i.e. vaccination, scientific advice, etc.). Data cover all relevant bodies. Apart from this, data are comparable across countries.
Comparability over time	The number of committees covered may vary over time due to structural changes. The list of scientific advisory committees or bodies to be covered is updated at the beginning of each data collection.  Apart from this point, data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no other dataset compiling the number of women and men in scientific advisory committees/bodies for COVID-19 over time.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites and contact person in relevant organisations.

13. EU funding

13.1 EU budget and EU funding decision-making at the EU level

13.1.1 European institutions involved in decision-making related to the Multiannual Financial Framework (MFF)

Organisations covered	Specific groups within the Council of Europe, European Parliament and European Commission in the negotiation procedures for the EU budget – Multiannual financial framework (MFF) – having a significant influence in the final formal decisions. These are: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• European Commission - Directorate General for Budget: prepares the Commission's budget proposals, which are then voted on by the European Parliament and the Council.</li> <li>• European Parliament - Committee on Budgets: amends and prepares the adoption of the EU's annual and multiannual budgets. One of the main tasks of the committee is the negotiation and adoption of the annual EU budget.</li> <li>• Council of the European Commission - General Affairs Council (GAC): responsible for the adoption of the Multiannual Financial Framework (MFF). Data for this body covers the participants of GAC meetings held between September 2018-November 2021 which focused on a 'policy debate' or adoption of MFF for the 2021-2027 programming period (i.e., excluding the meetings that only covered briefing on state of play of the negotiations).</li> </ul>
Positions covered	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Council of the European Commission - General Affairs Council and European Parliament - Committee on Budgets: president/chair and members</li> <li>• Directorate General for Budget (European Commission): <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Political positions: Commissioner, head of the cabinet, deputy head, and members of cabinet</li> <li>• Administrative positions: Director-General, Deputy Director-General, and Director of Revenue and Multiannual financial framework (BUDG.B).</li> </ul> </li> </ul>
Reference area	Not applicable.
Time coverage	Data were collected in the 3 rd quarter of 2021 and completed in July 2022.
Frequency of data collection and reference period	Data are planned to be collected on a 7-year basis, in line with the EU budget cycle.
Completeness	Data are complete.
Accuracy	Data can be considered fully accurate.
Sampling error	Not applicable.
Comparability across countries	Not applicable.
Comparability over time	Data are comparable over time.
Coherence with other datasets	There is no other dataset compiling the number of women and men in specific groups within the Council of Europe, European Parliament and European Commission with key role in the negotiation procedures for the EU budget.
Data revision	None.
Data collection	Direct collection of data from official websites.

Annex: WMID Mapping tables

The methodology for the collection of data on women and men in decision-making (WMID) defines the coverage of each topic. However, organisational structures vary between countries so there may be one or more entities covered. Moreover, decision-making positions are not directly comparable in terms of their scope of competence and the names applied to these positions vary so that in some cases positions with similar names are quite different.

The mapping tables list the organisations and/or positions covered by the WMID data for selected topics. For topics not covered in the mapping tables, the data tables generally include the names of the organisations covered.
